Hearing Opens On Proposal For Annexation

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners today prepared to launch its long-scheduled hearing on the proposed annexation of land to Circleville.

The hearing was scheduled for 2 p. m. in the Commission office. Persons both favoring and opposing the move were expected to sit in on the session.

The original proposal, submitted to the Commission on July 30 of this year, sought to add about 1,200 acres to the southern portion of the city. However, City Council last week made it known that about half of the designated area would be more to its liking.

But the exact amount of land the Commissioners will grant the city will not be determined until the hearing is concluded. The county fathers have the authority to approve all, a part of or none of the request.

THE COUNCIL recommendation was that the approximate 205 acres within the Miller Development Co. tract be excluded. The same held true for most of the land falling in the Logan Elm School District.

The northern boundary of the tract owned by the Miller firm, a subsidiary of the South-Central Rural Electric Cooperative, is about one mile south of Circleville on Route 23. The city would accept all land running generally north of this line and extending eastward to the Kingston Pike.

This area would include land surrounding the General Electric plant. GE has voiced approval of the move.

South-Central voiced approval of the original plan, providing the company could retain its power franchise in the area.

Rare Coins Said Missing

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (AP)—Coin collections with a total estimated value of $150,000 are missing. They were stolen from a druggist in Middlesboro and a newspaper employee in Minneapolis.

Perry H. Siler, co-owner of two drug stores, said a collection he valued at $90,000 was taken last weekend while he and his wife were away.

Roger W. Lanns, 31, said his $60,000 collection was stolen Sunday night while he was at his job in the Minneapolis Tribune mailing room.

Siler, a collector for 18 years, said he had a $1 gold piece worth $6,000, plus commemorative silver, paper money and thousands of pennies, many of them Indian heads.

Lanns said many of his coins were unrecirculated pennies obtained directly from the mint.

Jackson Twp. Home Destroyed by Fire

A second Jackson Twp. family was left homeless late yesterday when the home they occupied was destroyed by fire.

The house, owned by Earl Darst of Columbus and occupied by Elbert Smith, his wife and ten children, was located on Route 104 near the Darby Creek bridge.

Max Woods, a nearby resident, noticed the blaze while returning home from work at about 10:30 p. m. He awakened the Smith family, and then notified the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

All of the contents of the house were destroyed.

CLOTHES for the Smith children, ranging in age from five months to 15 years were provided by neighbors, friends and the clothing distribution center for needy families.

The family was then taken to Columbus where they spent the remainder of the night with Mrs. Smith's sister.

The Ashville Volunteer fire department was summoned to the scene, and the Williamsport tanker truck provided additional aid in fighting the fire.

Authorities estimated loss at about $3,700. This included damage to a car parked in the attached garage where the fire started.

The fire apparently was caused by spontaneous combustion according to Ashville fire officials.

Ralph Starkey, director of the needy family's clothing center, announced today that anyone wishing to donate clothes to the family could do so by calling the Pickaway County Juvenile Court, GR 4-6550. He noted that pick-up service would be provided.

SMITH has been unemployed since September.

Earlier yesterday fire consumed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens on County Road 126 in Jackson Twp.

OSU Polar Unit discovers volcano in the world.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's Antarctica research party has reported discovery of the southernmost volcano in the world.

In a radio message to the University's Institute of Polar Studies, the four-man team headed by George Doumani said the volcano is located near Mt. Weaver, about 150 miles from the South Pole. The volcano is extinct, they said.

The team has been in the field since early this month. Severe weather has hampered its field geology work, Doumani said.

West Seament Breathes Easier

Allies Stand Firm in Berlin 4 Years after Red Warning

BERLIN (AP)—Four years ago today Nikita Khrushchev gave the Western Allies six months to get out of West Berlin.

The United States, Britain and France are still here, exercising their war-won rights of occupation.

Their presence is supported by 12,500 combat-ready troops. The Communist-surrounded city is enjoying one of its most peaceful periods in years.

Berliners are feeling more perky than they have in a long time. President Kennedy's firm handling of the Cuban crisis gave their morale a terrific boost.

They know the threat of a Red take-over of the free part of the divided city has not melted away. But they breathe more easily in the belief that Khrushchev now really understands that the United States and its allies fight if necessary to preserve West Berlin's freedom.

On Nov. 27, 1961, the atmosphere in Berlin was very different. U.S. and Soviet tanks were parked near the wall dividing the city. There was a stream of incidents along the wall and on the land and air routes from the West to the divided city.

The West Berliners were still dazed and angry from the shock of the wall. Police clashed with students who tried a mass attack on it.

Now things are much calmer. There is still heartache over the brutal separation of families and friends. This gets harder to bear with the approach of Christmas.

Moscow's puppet regime on the other side of the wall has kept mum since Cuba. The propaganda machine no longer grinds out confident predictions that East Germany will soon have its long-promised peace treaty with the Soviet Union.

This pret was supposed to end

Armament Talks In Deadlock on Nuclear Tests

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference was back in its familiar deadlocked rut today after resuming with expressions of hope that nuclear weapons tests would soon be banned. Neither the Western powers nor the Communists showed signs of giving ground on the inspection issue.

After both sides indicated at the reopening of negotiations Monday that the Cuban crisis had created a new sense of urgency for progress in Geneva, their statements on nuclear testing put them once again on a dead-end course.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin expressed his willingness to sign a test-ban agreement, but only on Soviet terms, without any kind of international inspection and supervision demanded by the United States and Britain.

Tsarapkin contended existing national detection systems are adequate to enforce a test ban. He also rejected an American-British proposal for a ban on surface and atmospheric tests—policed only by national detection systems—while experts try to get together on the thorny underground testing problem. He said the Russians want to stop all nuclear tests now, not just some of them.

The usual impasse developed after the conference had heard a message from President Kennedy urging them to give high priority to a test-ban treaty "in view of the crucial developments within recent weeks."

Tsarapkin aroused British delegate Joseph B. Godber's protests by repeating an accusation the Soviet side has made for more than a year. He said the two Western powers do not really want a test ban.

"What they want is to gain military information about the Soviet Union, and that is espionage," Tsarapkin said.

Godber retorted, "We have heard enough of this. Let's not talk about espionage any more."

The conference is not meeting today. The next session is scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Draft Increase Due for Next Six Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the next six months draft calls will be raised to add 20,000 to the Army's ranks by June 30.

The Defense Department authorized Monday the temporary increase in the Army's manpower from the previously planned 960,000 to 980,000.

The increase, an announcement said, is intended to help offset the loss of trained personnel as the service of draftees called up in the Berlin crisis buildup a year ago expires.

The draft quota for this month is 4,000. For December it is 6,000. An increase in monthly quotas up to 8,000 appears possible.

The high point in draft calls during the Berlin crisis came in September 1961 when the quota was 25,000.

Jet Liner Crashes in Peru, None of 97 Aboard Sighted

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A Brazilian jet airliner, flying toward Los Angeles with 97 persons aboard, was found wrecked 75 miles south of Lima today with no sign of survivors, Peruvian officials reported.

The Varig Air Lines 707 had disappeared eight hours earlier as it headed for a landing at Lima on a flight that originated at Porto Alegre and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

A search plane said the Boeing plane seemed to be completely destroyed. It was sighted 75 miles south of Lima near the Pan-American Highway.

The plane was bound from Brazil to Los Angeles, with intermediate stops scheduled in Peru, Colombia, Panama and Mexico. Varig said it carried 80 passengers, with 9 of them ticketed for Los Angeles and the remainder for Latin American points.

The $5-million plane carried a crew of 17.

The plane was due to set down at Lima's International Airport about 3:30 a. m. EST.

Authorities said it radioed a normal position report five to seven minutes before the scheduled landing and gave no indication of difficulties. However, Varig offices in Rio de Janeiro and New York said an emergency call had been heard.

Lima airport said the plane apparently was flying at 12,000 feet near the Pacific Coast.

Peruvian air force planes and two helicopters were dispatched to the area. Two Peruvian submarines also were ordered to join the search.

Among passengers reported by Varig to be aboard were Raul Cepero Bonilla, economic adviser to Fidel Castro and president of the Cuban National Bank; and the Cuban minister of agriculture, Jesus Melgar, with his wife. They had been attending a regional meeting of the Food and Agriculture Organization in Rio de Janeiro.

Varig said the passengers scheduled to disembark at Los Angeles were listed as Mitsue Nizidori, Jose Trivelatto, Marie Ivonne Trivelatto, Mercedes Laredo, Samuel Manuel Gracol, Al-

Constant Radar Watch Is Kept On Cuba Area

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—During the first two days of the Cuban crisis, U.S. air defense jets flew about 750 sorties over the waters between this southernmost tip of Florida and Cuba.

Disclosing this today, an informed source said: "We keep a constant radar watch over the Cuban area. If anything comes out of Cuba toward the north, we scramble."

He said about one-third of the fighter craft based here are on five-minute alert at all times and when the powerful radar pointed toward Cuba picks up a suspicious blip "these pilots move out pronto."

This informant said there is "absolutely no basis" for persistent rumors that Soviet U-2-type planes have operated at high altitudes over the Florida coast. No other Cuban planes have penetrated U.S. airspace, he added.

Supplementing ground station radar are aircraft which maintain an airborne radar watch. Navy P-2V patrol planes based here are able to stay aloft for as long as 18 hours, the source said.

This authority said Air Force and Navy fliers were confident they could have knocked down most, if not all, of the Soviet bombers before they reached the U.S. coast had such an attack been made from Cuba.

Elderly Farmer Killed

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An elderly Post Town area farmer riding a wagon behind a tractor fell off and suffered fatal injuries Monday. Butler County sheriff's deputies said the wagon, passed over Hugh C. Barnes, 76, before the tractor driver realized what had happened.

cindo Ferreira, Antonio Costa and Oswald Viravollo.

No definite word on the fate of the plane had been received eight hours after its presumed crash.

Varig said the 707 at one point was reported over the Peruvian city of Pisco, about 20 minutes' flying time from Lima.

The plane was Varig's Flight 810, originating in Porto Alegre, southern Brazilian city where Varig has headquarters. It took off for Lima after making its main boarding stop in Rio de Janeiro, leaving at 10:53 p. m. EST Monday.

It connected with Flight 822 from Buenos Aires.

The airline said 37 of the passengers were bound for Lima, 13 for Bogota, 3 for Panama and 18 for Mexico City.

Planes in the area joined in the search, including a DC7 piston-engine plane of the Panagra Airlines.

Up until today, 416 persons had died in the crash of five commercial Boeing 707s in 1961 and 1962. The planes have been in operation since 1958.

Monday a smaller Brazilian airliner was in collision with a small private plane over Sao Paulo state, Brazil. That crash killed 27 persons.

After 12 Years Her Words Rewarded with $1 Million

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A question a secretary asked her boss 12 years ago was worth more than a million dollars to her today.

The question was asked in the Washington office of the Aluminum Company of America, where Miss Evelyn Mitchell was head receptionist and secretary to Arthur Vining Davis, chairman of the board.

"I knew Mr. Davis was setting up an office in Miami," Miss Mitchell recalled Monday. "So I asked him if he planned to take a secretary along."

Davis decided to take her. "He was a hard worker and spent long hours on the job," she added. "And he expected you to work long hours and work without complaint."

Miss Mitchell, born in Newport News, Va., attended school in Charleston, W.Va., where she studied typing and stenography. She went to work for Alcoa in Washington early in World War II.

In Miami, Miss Mitchell soon learned her principal job was to take care of affairs at Journey's End, the Davis home south of town.

After Davis suffered an illness in 1952, Miss Mitchell was seldom away from his side.

"He had become used to long hours of work following the death of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins Davis, in 1933 and he liked to keep busy as much of the time as possible," she said.

After Davis suffered a critical illness in 1956, Miss Mitchell became his constant companion and looked after him night and day until he died Nov. 17 at the age of 95.

His will, filed for probate Monday, left her $1 million in cash and a palatial home opened only last May.

She also will receive monthly payments for life from the income of an insured trust.

Other bequests by Davis include $100,000 cash and income in monthly installments to Dorothy A. Given, daughter of his late second wife; $500,000 cash to William B. Given of New York City, her husband; $400,000 to Mary Davis, daughter of Davis' late brother, Albert Davis; $10,000 cash and $337.50 insured life monthly payments to Anthony Petelle, his chauffeur.

To Agnes Flores, a former employee now living in New York, $10,000 and $150 a month for life; $375 monthly for life to Carl W. Voss, Davis' former boat captain, and other monthly payments for life to former employees.

Unnamed educational, religious and charitable institutions are to be paid at the discretion of trustees income and principal from 75 per cent of the estate after payment of the specific bequests.

Davis' wealth has been estimated at $300 to $400 million.

Soviets Say Englishman Admits Guilt

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Foreign Ministry advised the British Embassy here today that British businessman Greville Maynard Wynne has pleaded guilty to a charge of espionage against the Soviet Union.

The embassy also was told Wynne, who was arrested in Budapest by Hungarian authorities, is now in the Soviet Union.

The information was given to the embassy counselor, Howard Smith, as an oral statement at the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Wynne, 45, has been to the Soviet Union several times on business trips. He was traveling with a mobile industrial exhibition van in Hungary at the time of his arrest Nov. 2.

Smith did not identify the Soviet official and declined to say what he himself may have said in reply.

With the phrase "pleaded guilty" the Soviets apparently meant that Wynne has signed a confession and is now being prepared for a full-dress trial.

Today's Soviet statement was in reply to a British note of Nov. 21 asking for information about Wynne.

Teamsters Charged

CINCINNATI (AP)—Attorneys for Stillpass Transit Co. planned to charge three Teamsters Local 103 officials with contempt of an anti-picketing injunction today. The labor leaders say the charge is unfounded.

Edward Heck, secretary-treasurer of the local, said he was unaware of the injunction granted last month and that picketing banners were removed soon after they were put up Sunday. Stillpass attorneys said the Teamsters interfered with the company's trucks Monday.

Mikoyan Says Differences Still Exist

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said Monday night that sharp differences over Cuba still exist between the United States and the Soviet Union. He indicated there was no softening of Fidel Castro's stand.

The Kremlin troubleshooter talked to newsmen after attending a dinner acting Secretary-General U Thant gave for U.S. and Soviet negotiators on the Cuban crisis. Mikoyan returned to New York Monday after a 24-day visit to Havana.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who attended the dinner, said he expects to resume discussions on Cuba Wednesday with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov. He said he expected the meeting to be "quite important."

Mikoyan said "very sharp questions" were discussed at the dinner with Stevenson and John J. McCloy, head of resident Kennedy's Cuban coordinating committee.

"But there was no quarreling," the Soviet leader said smilingly. Mikoyan said the possibility of (Continued on Page 2)

Dixie School Deliberations Resume Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Secret deliberations on what to do about alleged political interference at the University of Mississippi continues today with no clue as to what the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools will decide.

The matter is in the hands of the nine-member executive council of the association's Commission on Colleges. It will present its recommendations to the college delegate assembly Wednesday morning.

Council members, all prominent Southern educators, met behind closed doors all day Monday and into the evening hours.

Most delegates to the association's 67th annual meeting believe the council will recommend a period of strict probation for all eight state colleges and universities in Mississippi.

The decision could range from exonerating to loss of accreditation.

Credits and degrees awarded by discredited institutions are not recognized by other colleges and universities as by many professional societies.

Part of the question being decided here is whether Gov. Ross Barnett and other state officials interfered with the administration of the University of Mississippi in late September when Negro James H. Meredith was seeking admission to the then all-white school.

Equally important is whether there is a threat of future interference now that Meredith has been admitted.

Accused Slayer Bound to Jury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—James Click, 29-year-old accused slayer of Alice Wilcox, 17, has been bound to the grand jury on a first-degree murder charge. He entered an innocent plea when arraigned in Municipal Court Monday and waived a preliminary hearing.

Police say Click admitted firing five shots from a .45 caliber pistol at Miss Wilcox when she answered his knock at an apartment where she had a baby-sitting assignment last Wednesday. Click and the girl had been friends until about three months before the shooting when Miss Wilcox ended the relationship.

Hearing Opens On Proposal For Annexation

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners today prepared to launch its long-scheduled hearing on the proposed annexation of land to Circleville.

The hearing was scheduled for 2 p. m. in the Commission office. Persons both favoring and opposing the move were expected to sit in on the session.

South-Central voiced approval of the original plan, providing the company could retain its power franchise in the area.

Draft Increase Due for Next Six Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the next six months draft calls will be raised to add 20,000 to the Army's ranks by June 30.

The airline said 37 of the passengers were bound for Lima, 13 for Bogota, 3 for Panama and 18 for Mexico City.

Planes in the area joined in the search, including a DC7 piston-engine plane of the Panagra Airlines.

Up until today, 416 persons had died in the crash of five commercial Boeing 707s in 1961 and 1962. The planes have been in operation since 1958.

Monday a smaller Brazilian airliner was in collision with a small private plane over Sao Paulo state, Brazil. That crash killed 27 persons.

After 12 Years Her Words Rewarded with $1 Million

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A question a secretary asked her boss 12 years ago was worth more than a million dollars to her today.

The question was asked in the Washington office of the Aluminum Company of America, where Miss Evelyn Mitchell was head receptionist and secretary to Arthur Vining Davis, chairman of the board.

"I knew Mr. Davis was setting up an office in Miami," Miss Mitchell recalled Monday. "So I asked him if he planned to take a secretary along."

Davis decided to take her. "He was a hard worker and spent long hours on the job," she added. "And he expected you to work long hours and work without complaint."

Miss Mitchell, born in Newport News, Va., attended school in Charleston, W.Va., where she studied typing and stenography. She went to work for Alcoa in Washington early in World War II.

In Miami, Miss Mitchell soon learned her principal job was to take care of affairs at Journey's End, the Davis home south of town.

After Davis suffered an illness in 1952, Miss Mitchell was seldom away from his side.

"He had become used to long hours of work following the death of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins Davis, in 1933 and he liked to keep busy as much of the time as possible," she said.

After Davis suffered a critical illness in 1956, Miss Mitchell became his constant companion and looked after him night and day until he died Nov. 17 at the age of 95.

His will, filed for probate Monday, left her $1 million in cash and a palatial home opened only last May.

She also will receive monthly payments for life from the income of an insured trust.

Other bequests by Davis include $100,000 cash and income in monthly installments to Dorothy A. Given, daughter of his late second wife; $500,000 cash to William B. Given of New York City, her husband; $400,000 to Mary Davis, daughter of Davis' late brother, Albert Davis; $10,000 cash and $337.50 insured life monthly payments to Anthony Petelle, his chauffeur.

To Agnes Flores, a former employee now living in New York, $10,000 and $150 a month for life; $375 monthly for life to Carl W. Voss, Davis' former boat captain, and other monthly payments for life to former employees.

Unnamed educational, religious and charitable institutions are to be paid at the discretion of trustee income and principal from 75 per cent of the estate after payment of the specific bequests.

Davis' wealth has been estimated at $300 to $400 million.

Soviets Say Englishman Admits Guilt

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Foreign Ministry advised the British Embassy here today that British businessman Greville Maynard Wynne has pleaded guilty to a charge of espionage against the Soviet Union.

The embassy also was told Wynne, who was arrested in Budapest by Hungarian authorities, is now in the Soviet Union.

The information was given to the embassy counselor, Howard Smith, as an oral statement at the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Wynne, 45, has been to the Soviet Union several times on business trips. He was traveling with a mobile industrial exhibition unit in Hungary at the time of his arrest Nov. 2.

Smith did not identify the Soviet official and declined to say what he himself may have said in reply.

With the phrase "pleaded guilty" the Soviets apparently meant that Wynne has signed a confession and is now being prepared for a full-dress trial.

Today's Soviet statement was in reply to a British note of Nov. 21 asking for information about Wynne.

Teamsters Charged

CINCINNATI (AP)—Attorneys for Stillpass Transit Co. planned to charge three Teamsters Local 103 officials with contempt of an anti-picketing injunction today. The labor leaders say the charge is unfounded.

Edward Heck, secretary-treasurer of the local, said he was unaware of the injunction granted last month and that picketing banners were removed soon after they were put up Sunday. Stillpass attorneys said the Teamsters interfered with the company's trucks Monday.

Five Germans Escape

BERLIN (AP)—Five East Germans escaped through thick fog to West Berlin during the night but gunfire from Red guards stopped two other escape attempts.

Mikoyan Says Differences Still Exist

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said Monday night that sharp differences over Cuba still exist between the United States and the Soviet Union. He indicated there was no softening of Fidel Castro's stand.

The Kremlin troubleshooter talked to newsmen after attending a dinner acting Secretary-General U Thant gave for U.S. and Soviet negotiators on the Cuban crisis. Mikoyan returned to New York Monday after a 24-day visit to Havana.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who attended the dinner, said he expects to resume discussions on Cuba Wednesday with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov. He said he expected the meeting to be "quite important."

Mikoyan said "very sharp questions" were discussed at the dinner with Stevenson and John J. McCloy, head of resident Kennedy's Cuban coordinating committee.

"But there was no quarreling," the Soviet leader said smilingly. Mikoyan said the possibility of (Continued on Page 2)

Dixie School Deliberations Resume Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Secret deliberations on what to do about alleged political interference at the University of Mississippi continues today with no clue as to what the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools will decide.

The matter is in the hands of the nine-member executive council of the association's Commission on Colleges. It will present its recommendations to the college delegate assembly Wednesday morning.

Council members, all prominent Southern educators, met behind closed doors all day Monday and into the evening hours.

Most delegates to the association's 67th annual meeting believe the council will recommend a period of strict probation for all eight state colleges and universities in Mississippi.

The decision could range from exonerated to loss of accreditation.

Credits and degrees awarded by discredited institutions are not recognized by other colleges and universities and by many professional societies.

Part of the question being decided here is whether Gov. Ross Barnett and other state officials interfered with the administration of the University of Mississippi in late September when Negro James H. Meredith was seeking admission to the then all-white school.

Equally important is whether there is a threat of future interference now that Meredith has been admitted.

Accused Slayer Bound to Jury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—James Click, 29-year-old accused slayer of Alice Wilcox, 17, has been bound to the grand jury on a first-degree murder charge. He entered an innocent plea when arraigned in Municipal Court Monday and waived a preliminary hearing.

Police say Click admitted firing five shots from a .45 caliber pistol at Miss Wilcox when she answered his knock at an apartment where she had a baby-sitting assignment last Wednesday. Click and the girl had been friends until about three months before the shooting when Miss Wilcox ended the relationship.

Steps Taken To Alleviate Shortage of Coins in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The director of the Mint said today steps have been taken to alleviate a shortage of coins in various parts of the country.

Eva B. Adams, the Mint director, said production is being stepped up in the Mints in Philadelphia and Denver. She guessed that the worst of the shortage is over.

The shortage of coins—pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters—first developed in the Midwest. It spread to other sections of the nation including New England, the South and the Far West.

Miss Adams said shortages in the supply of pennies are not unusual but recently various sections of the country have been clamoring for other small coins.

She said one factor contributing to the shortage was the failure of Congress to pass an omnibus supplemental appropriation bill which included $500,000 for the Mint. She said she meant no criticism of Congress, however. The money for the Mint was approved by both House and Senate but Congress did not pass the omnibus bill before adjournment.

Miss Adams said the Budget Bureau has arranged to shift funds to permit stepped-up production.

As a result, the Philadelphia Mint, which ordinarily works three shifts, now has gone on an overtime basis, including Saturdays and Sundays.

The two-shift Denver Mint also is working overtime to produce more coins.

Miss Adams said many factors are contributing to the increased use of hard money. Foremost, she said, is the steadily-growing population. Automatic merchandising machines, sales taxes, and children paying for school lunches with coins are among the increased uses, she said.

Ecumenical Council Recess Extended 4 Months by Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today extended the 1963 recess of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council by four months, telling the prelates to return in September instead of May from a recess that begins Dec. 8.

The Pope's decision for a nine-month break was announced at today's closed council session in St. Peter's where 2,200 bishops examined a thesis exploring possible roads toward Christian unity.

Pope John does not sit in the council hall for the working sessions.

His decision, sought for several weeks by Latin-American and missionary bishops, was read to the prelates by Archbishop Pericle Felici, council secretary-general.

The 81-year-old pontiff had announced two weeks ago that the council would recess Dec. 8, ending the initial phase that began with a solemn ceremony Oct. 11. At that time he set the period for the second phase as May 12 to June 29.

The change today meant that the cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops will not have to return to Rome until Sept. 8.

There was no announcement when the second phase would end but sources said it would certainly not run beyond mid-December 1963.

3,229 Given TB Skin Tests

A total of 3,229 students and personnel of Circleville schools were given a tuberculosis skin test recently under supervision of the City Board of Health.

Ninety-nine positive reactors were found when the skin tests were read by authorized personnel. Families of persons reacting positively to the test are being contacted to inform them of an open skin-testing program to be held from 5-8 p. m. December 4, at the City Health Department offices.

Health Department officials have also completed plans for a return visit of the Mobile X-Ray Cruiser to examine the positive reactors.

Funds for the skin testing program have been provided by the Pickaway County B and Health Assn. and the Ohio Department of Health. Coordinating with these groups were the City Health Department, school personnel, registered nurses, and PTA workers.

Four Students Are Killed in 2-Car Crash

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Four college students, hurrying back to school after the Thanksgiving vacation, and three Pennsylvanians heading home after spending the holidays with relatives in Ohio met Monday on a curve on U.S. 36 about a half-mile east of here.

All four students were killed and the Pennsylvanians were hurt critically.

The Highway Patrol said the students' car apparently went left of center on the curve and smashed head-on into the east-bound camper-pickup truck.

Killed were Bruce Seeman, 17, of Damascus (Mahoning and Columbiana counties), Ohio; Gary W. Hartle, 19, of Rt. 1, Shippenville, Pa.; Tom Switzer, 18, of Knox, Pa., and Anthony Lowry 20, of Youngstown, believed to be the driver of the car.

All four were students at Urbana Junior College at Urbana, Ohio.

Reported in critical condition were Andrew Marechin, 58, of Rt. 2, West Middlesex, Pa.; his wife, Mary, 52, and Mrs. Anna Folta, 58, of Rt. 2, Sharpsville, Pa.

The injured persons had been visiting relatives in West Milton, a Miami County community northwest of Dayton.

Mikoyan Says

his going to Washington for a meeting with President Kennedy was not discussed. The Soviets earlier were said to have put out feelers concerning a White House visit for Mikoyan.

In his talk with newsmen Mikoyan came out strongly for Castro's five-point demands, including U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo naval base and an end to the U.S. economic boycott of Cuba. Stevenson said the Castro demands were not discussed at the dinner.

Mikoyan also praised the Cuban government's offer to allow U.N. inspection of Soviet withdrawal of offensive weapons from Cuba in return for the dismantling—under U.N. inspection—of bases in the United States, Puerto Rico and elsewhere from which anti-Castro exiles are operating against the Cuban regime.

The State Department brushed off the Cuban proposal. U.S. officials said privately the Kennedy administration would make no such concessions to get fulfillment of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agreement for U.N. inspection of Cuba.

Thant was reported urging the United States and the Soviet Union to go before the Security Council with a joint statement closing out the current phase of the Cuban crisis.

Informed sources said Thant envisaged a U.S.-Soviet statement noting removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba, the promise to pull out Soviet jet bombers and the end of the U.S. naval blockade.

Gale Winds Lashing East

Warnings Are Posted
Along Entire Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gale winds lashed Atlantic coastal areas today, with high tides from three to five feet above normal expected from Cape May, N.J., to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Gale warnings were posted from Cape May to Daytona Beach, Fla. and small craft warnings were in effect from the New Jersey coast to Provincetown, Mass., and from Charleston S.C. to Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The Weather Bureau warned of flooding in low-lying areas from Delaware to northern Florida. Wind gusts of 60 to 75 m.p.h. with heavy rain, swept Hatteras Monday, while Norfolk, Va., reported winds up to 61 m.p.h. The center of the storm was some 250 miles east of the Georgia coast.

The rough sea water destroyed about 250 feet of a temporary bridge between Avon and Buxton, N.C. Emergency ferry service was planned between Hatteras and Avon. Water splashed across highways all along the Nags Head-Kill Devil Hill section, but no major property damage was reported.

It was chilly in most of the Northeast and some cool air again dropped deep into the Southeast. Temperatures of freezing or below were reported in several areas in eastern Tennessee, and northern Georgia, with a low of 27 in Rome, Ga. In Florida, the mercury dropped to 48 in Miami, with lower marks in northern sections.

JFK Heartened, Encouraged By U.S. Power Facing Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and the nation's military chiefs returned "heartened and encouraged" after seeing the fighting men and awesome firepower massed in the Southeast facing Cuba.

The White House said this in a statement Monday night following Kennedy's 12-hour flying tour of three key bases—the Army's Ft. Stewart, Ga., Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., and the Navy's air and sea base at Key West, Fla.

For the first time since the Cuban crisis developed five weeks ago, reporters had a chance to see the extent to which U.S. armed might had been mobilized inside these bases.

Among other things, they saw: About 250 powerful rocket-armed jet fighters on alert at Homestead, advance command post for the Cuban operation.

Another 200 jet interceptors, fighters and fighter-bombers in position at Key West, only 90 miles from Cuba.

Elements of the 15,561-man 1st Armored Division, the Army's newest, which had moved swiftly by air and rail from Ft. Hood, Tex., to Ft. Stewart last month when the United States seemed headed for possible use of force against Cuba.

This was only part of the build-up which extended to many other bases in the Southeast.

In brief talks at Ft. Stewart, Homestead and Key West, Kennedy stressed his "great appreciation" and the nation's indebtedness for the contribution made by the combat-ready forces in the period of crisis.

At the Boca Chica Naval Air Station at Key West, the President said:

"The reconnaissance flights which enabled us to determine with precision the offensive build-up in Cuba contributed directly to the security of the United States in the most important and significant way."

He said that "the days that we have recently passed through have been among the most dangerous since the end of the Second World War."

There is no assurance that in other times "we may not pass through other dangerous days," he added.

The President said it gives him, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Congress and the people the greatest satisfaction to see units of all the services "all working together in the greatest of causes, the defense of the United States."

These sentiments were repeated in the White House's formal statement after Kennedy's 2,500-mile roundtrip tour of the Florida and Georgia bases.

"The President extended a 'well done' to all personnel concerned," the White House said. Riding in a top down convertible, Kennedy passed slowly along

Steps Taken To Alleviate Shortage of Coins in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The director of the Mint said today steps have been taken to alleviate a shortage of coins in various parts of the country.

Eva B. Adams, the Mint director, said production is being stepped up in the Mints in Philadelphia and Denver. She guessed that the worst of the shortage is over.

The shortage of coins—pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters—first developed in the Midwest. It spread to other sections of the nation including New England, the South and the Far West.

Miss Adams said shortages in the supply of pennies are not unusual but recently various sections of the country have been clamoring for other small coins.

She said one factor contributing to the shortage was the failure of Congress to pass an omnibus supplemental appropriation bill which included $500,000 for the Mint. She said she meant no criticism of Congress, however. The money for the Mint was approved by both House and Senate but Congress did not pass the omnibus bill before adjournment.

Miss Adams said the Budget Bureau has arranged to shift funds to permit stepped-up production.

As a result, the Philadelphia Mint, which ordinarily works three shifts, now has gone on an overtime basis, including Saturdays and Sundays.

The two-shift Denver Mint also is working overtime to produce more coins.

Miss Adams said many factors are contributing to the increased use of hard money. Foremost, she said, is the steadily-growing population. Automatic merchandising machines, sales taxes, and children paying for school lunches with coins are among the increased uses, she said.

Ecumenical Council Recess Extended 4 Months by Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today extended the 1963 recess of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council by four months, telling the prelates to return in September instead of May from a recess that begins Dec. 8.

The Pope's decision for a nine-month break was announced at today's closed council session in St. Peter's where 2,200 bishops examined a thesis exploring possible roads toward Christian unity.

Pope John does not sit in the council hall for the working sessions.

His decision, sought for several weeks by Latin-American and missionary bishops, was read to the prelates by Archbishop Pericle Felici, council secretary-general.

The 81-year-old pontiff had announced two weeks ago that the council would recess Dec. 8, ending the initial phase that began with a solemn ceremony Oct. 11. At that time he set the period for the second phase as May 12 to June 29.

The change today meant that the cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops will not have to return to Rome until Sept. 8.

There was no announcement when the second phase would end but sources said it would certainly not run beyond mid-December 1963.

3,229 Given TB Skin Tests

A total of 3,229 students and personnel of Circleville schools were given a tuberculosis skin test recently under supervision of the City Board of Health.

Ninety-nine positive reactors were found when the skin tests were read by authorized personnel. Families of persons reacting positively to the test are being contacted to inform them of an open skin-testing program to be held from 5-8 p. m. December 4, at the City Health Department offices.

Health Department officials have also completed plans for a return visit of the Mobile X-Ray Cruiser to examine the positive reactors.

Funds for the skin testing program have been provided by the Pickaway County B and Health Assn. and the Ohio Department of Health. Coordinating with these groups were the City Health Department, school personnel, registered nurses, and PTA workers.

County Road Opened

County Engineer Henry T. McCrady announced today that County Road No. 31 was opened today after being closed several weeks for repairs.

The road, in Walnut and Harrison Twp., was closed by the Engineer's Department while repairs of a railroad underpass were being completed.

Four Students Are Killed in 2-Car Crash

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Four college students, hurrying back to school after the Thanksgiving vacation, and three Pennsylvanians heading home after spending the holidays with relatives in Ohio met Monday on a curve on U.S. 36 about a half-mile east of here. All four students were killed and the Pennsylvanians were hurt critically.

The Highway Patrol said the students' car apparently went left of center on the curve and smashed headon into the east-bound camper-pickup truck.

Killed were Bruce Seeman, 17, of Damascus (Mahoning and Columbiana counties), Ohio; Gary W. Hartle, 19, of Rt. 1, Shippenville, Pa.; Tom Switzer, 18, of Knox, Pa., and Anthony Lowry 20, of Youngstown, believed to be the driver of the car.

All four were students at Urbana Junior College at Urbana, Ohio.

Reported in critical condition were Andrew Marechin, 58, of Rt. 2, West Middlesex, Pa.; his wife, Mary, 52, and Mrs. Anna Folta, 58, of Rt. 2, Sharpsville, Pa. The injured persons had been visiting relatives in West Milton, a Miami County community northwest of Dayton.

Schedule Announced For Red Cross Project

Red Cross officials today reminded families of servicemen that recordings and pictures will be made this week for the "Voice from Home" program.

The schedule for making tape recordings and posing for pictures is: 7-9 p. m. Thursday and Friday; 10 a. m. until noon, 1-4 p. m. and 7-9 p. m. Saturday.

Recordings will be made at the local Red Cross offices at Pickaway and Watt Sts. Appointments may be made by calling GR 4-5736. No charge will be made for this Red Cross-sponsored project.

Case Worker Completes Orientation Program

his going to Washington for a meeting with President Kennedy was not discussed. The Soviets earlier were said to have put out feelers concerning a White House visit for Mikoyan.

In his talk with newsmen Mikoyan came out strongly for Castro's five-point demands, including U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo naval base and an end to the U.S. economic boycott of Cuba. Stevenson said the Castro demands were not discussed at the dinner.

Mikoyan also praised the Cuban government's offer to allow U.N. inspection of Soviet withdrawal of offensive weapons from Cuba in return for the dismantling—under U.N. inspection—of bases in the United States, Puerto Rico and elsewhere from which anti-Castro exiles are operating against the Cuban regime.

The State Department brushed off the Cuban proposal. U.S. officials said privately the Kennedy administration would make no such concessions to get fulfillment of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agreement for U.N. inspection of Cuba.

Thant was reported urging the United States and the Soviet Union to go before the Security Council with a joint statement closing out the current phase of the Cuban crisis.

Informed sources said Thant envisaged a U.S.-Soviet statement noting removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba, the promise to pull out Soviet jet bombers and the end of the U.S. naval blockade.

Gale Winds Lashing East

Warnings Are Posted Along Entire Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gale winds lashed Atlantic coastal areas today, with high tides from three to five feet above normal expected from Cape May, N.J., to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Gale warnings were posted from Cape May to Daytona Beach, Fla. and small craft warnings were in effect from the New Jersey coast to Provincetown, Mass., and from Charleston S.C. to Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The Weather Bureau warned of flooding in low-lying areas from Delaware to northern Florida. Wind gusts of 60 to 75 m.p.h. with heavy rain, swept Hatteras Monday, while Norfolk, Va., reported winds up to 61 m.p.h. The center of the storm was some 250 miles east of the Georgia coast.

The rough sea water destroyed about 250 feet of a temporary bridge between Avon and Buxton, N.C. Emergency ferry service was planned between Hatteras and Avon. Water splashed across highways all along the Nags Head-Kill Devil Hill section, but no major property damage was reported.

It was chilly in most of the Northeast and some cool air again dropped deep into the Southeast. Temperatures of freezing or below were reported in several areas in eastern Tennessee, and northern Georgia, with a low of 27 in Rome, Ga. In Florida, the mercury dropped to 48 in Miami, with lower marks in northern sections.

JFK Heartened, Encouraged By U.S. Power Facing Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy "and the nation's military chiefs returned 'heartened and encouraged' after seeing the fighting men and awesome firepower massed in the Southeast facing Cuba.

The White House said this in a statement Monday night following Kennedy's 12-hour flying tour of three key bases—the Army's Ft. Stewart, Ga., Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., and the Navy's air and sea base at Key West, Fla.

For the first time since the Cuban crisis developed five weeks ago, reporters had a chance to see the extent to which U.S. armed might had been mobilized inside these bases.

Among other things, they saw: About 250 powerful rocket-armed jet fighters on alert at Homestead, advance command post for the Cuban operation.

Another 200 jet interceptors, fighters and fighter-bombers in position at Key West, only 90 miles from Cuba.

Elements of the 15,561-man 1st Armored Division, the Army's newest, which had moved swiftly by air and rail from Ft. Hood, Tex., to Ft. Stewart last month when the United States seemed headed for possible use of force against Cuba.

This was only part of the build-up which extended to many other bases in the Southeast.

In brief talks at Ft. Stewart, Homestead and Key West, Kennedy stressed his "great appreciation" and the nation's indebtedness for the contribution made by the combat-ready forces in the period of crisis.

At the Boca Chica Naval Air Station at Key West, the President said:

"The reconnaissance flights which enabled us to determine with precision the offensive build-up in Cuba contributed directly to the security of the United States in the most important and significant way."

He said that "the days that we have recently passed through have been among the most dangerous since the end of the Second World War."

There is no assurance that in other times "we may not pass through other dangerous days," he added.

The President said it gives him, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Congress and the people the greatest satisfaction to see units of all the services "all working together in the greatest of causes, the defense of the United States."

These sentiments were repeated in the White House's formal statement after Kennedy's 2,500-mile roundtrip tour of the Florida and Georgia bases.

"The President extended a 'well done' to all personnel concerned," the White House said.

Riding in a top down convertible, Kennedy passed slowly along

More Support Is Pledged To De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—The long shadow of Charles de Gaulle stretched even farther across the French political landscape today in the glow of the president's resounding victory in national parliamentary elections.

In run-off contests Sunday De Gaulle's own party and others pledged to his support captured a clear majority in the National Assembly—the first time in modern French history that any cohesive force could claim such a margin.

Official results, combining first-round returns Nov. 18 and Sunday's runoffs, gave De Gaulle's Union for a New Republic (UNR) 233 of the 482 seats in the new National Assembly. Some 30 successful candidates from other parties were pledged to support De Gaulle.

De Gaulle had a combined support of more than 260 deputies, well above the 242 needed for control. In 1958 the UNR elected only 188 seats although De Gaulle's nationwide popularity and the pressure of the Algerian war kept a majority of the assembly obedient to him.

With returns from six overseas districts still unreported, the other party standings were:

(1958 result in parentheses): Independent-Republicans and Peasants 50 seats (120), Popular Republican Movement (MRP) 38 (44), Radical-Socialists and allies 43 (36), Socialists 67 (40), Communists 41 (10), other 4.

The UNR collected 40.6 per cent of the vote, compared with 26.4 per cent in 1958. Of more than 21 million registered voters in districts voting Sunday, 15,420,148 went to the polls. The percentage of stay-at-homes, 30.7, was one of the highest for a legislative election in this century.

De Gaulle is expected to call on Premier Georges Pompidou to form a new government which may serve for much of the new assembly's five-year term.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

More sunshine and dry weather is in prospect for all of Ohio today. Some cloudiness may arrive to dim the sun Wednesday, although conditions appear favorable for continued dry weather.

The morning weather map shows widespread rain over the Southern and Central Great Plains area covers the Great Lakes and the Ohio Valley.

The high pressure is holding up the rain over the central part of the nation, and until the pressure breaks down, dry and generally mild weather will continue.

Temperatures dropped below freezing Monday night over all of Ohio, reaching the lowest point at Toledo where 20 degrees was recorded. Columbus had 23, Zanesville 25, Cincinnati 26 and Cleveland 27. All are expected to reach the high 40s or low 50s this afternoon.

Work To Continue At Hillsboro Plant

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Work at the Moore Drop Forging Co. plant here was scheduled to continue today despite a strike by most of the plant's employees.

About 120 of Moore's 160 employees walked out Monday and set up picket lines, officials said. The pickets said they went on strike because the company and United Auto Workers Local 192 have failed to reach a contract agreement.

Officials Ask Legislature To Clarify Closing Laws

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

City officials and businessmen, who appear to be more confused by the day over what to do about Ohio's Sunday closing laws, have begun turning to the legislature for help.

In Lancaster, the city council authorized preparation of a resolution to the General Assembly to either clarify or repeal the laws.

In Springfield, a hurriedly-formed small businessmen's association said it has received assurances from lawmakers that the issue would go into the legislative hopper early in the session convening Jan. 7 and with that assurance asked the Springfield City Commission to declare a moratorium on enforcement.

A Springfield Law Director Thomas J. Veska had said earlier that the laws should be enforced to the letter, but he said he will not ask for the enforcement until after he completes a thorough study of past court decisions in an attempt to determine what items can be classified as essential.

John Schuler, a Springfield bakery operator and a spokesman for the association, which he said was formed Friday, said 137 small businessmen signed the petition. He said the association only asked for a moratorium until the legislature is given a chance to act on the matter. The commission indicated it would act on the petition at a later meeting.

But while some communities continue to talk about the laws, others are cracking down.

In Mansfield, police made three arrests Monday as the result of investigations Sunday.

Charged with causing a place to be open for transaction of business on Sunday in violation of the state code were: Don Burnett, assistant manager of the Giant Store; Boris Wiggins, president of the Five Cousins Discount Center, and George Cooper, manager of the Giant Tiger Store.

All were released after posting $25 bond. They were to appear today in Municipal Court.

The first arrests in Mansfield's crackdown on Sunday sales were made a week ago when the assistant manager of the Giant Tiger Store and the manager of the Giant Store were cited. They are to appear in court Wednesday.

The three businesses involved are the three major discount stores here. All major food stores and coin-operated laundries have followed the wishes of Mayor Charles H. Scott and locked their doors on Sunday.

Drug stores and small neighborhood groceries have remained open and so far have not been bothered by police. However, Scott said the crackdown will continue.

Lausche Opposed To Service Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The plan for a "domestic peace corps" might mean "we will have more guides working for the government than we have people to guide," says Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

The senator voiced his opposition to the proposal for a National Service Corps to work with in the United States as the Peace Corps does overseas in a letter to an Ohio constituent.

He said the proposal is "another step in the direction of centralizing power in the present plethora of bureaus already existing in Washington."

Lausche cited the 1960 census figures as showing a total 2,147,663 teachers, social and welfare workers, recreational personnel, law officers and clergymen. He said they were all in effect, "peace corps workers."

He then listed a population of 27,393,055 juveniles in the 12 to 21 age bracket. "Thus without the parents we have one worker to every 13 juveniles," he said.

Station Licensed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission says it has granted a license for an FM radio station — WSRW-FM Hillsboro, Ohio.

The commission also said it has received an application from the Capital Broadcasting Corp. for a construction permit for a standard radio station in Barnesville, Ohio. The station would broadcast on 950 kilocycles, daytime, with a power of 500 watts.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 27, the 331st day of 1962. Here are 34 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1632, the English statesman, Sir John Eliot, died in the Tower of London. Because Eliot led opposition to King Charles I, the monarch so hated him that he refused to permit Eliot's family have his body for burial.

On this day: In 1520, Portuguese navigator Ferdinand Magellan entered the Pacific Ocean.

In 1703, London was hit by a great storm that caused an estimated $10 million damage, killed 8,000 persons, wrecked seven English warships and demolished Eddystone Lighthouse.

In 1873, America's first tunnel, the Hoosac Tunnel in Massachusetts, was completed after many interruptions.

In 1937, Japan took over Chinese postal and communications facilities in Shanghai.

In 1942, the greater part of the French fleet at Toulon was scuttled and the naval base blown up as the conquering German forces entered.

Today's birthdays: Orchestra conductor Leon Barzin is 62. Business executive Victor Nyberg is 57.

Thought for today: Business is other people's money—Mme. DeGirardin.

Caroline Set For Party on 5th Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caroline Kennedy is 5 today and there'll be a double-barreled birthday party in the White House.

Brother John Jr. was 2 on Sunday but was unable to go to Cape Cod with the rest of the First Family for a long Thanksgiving weekend because he had a cold.

The word from the White House today is that he'll be able to go to the birthday party.

If it's anything like last year, a lot of fun and surprises are in store for the President's children and their friends.

Mrs. Kennedy won't let word out on plans for the celebration. It's a private affair for the youngsters.

Likely to join in the festivities are some 20 youngsters who attend nursery school with Caroline on the third floor of the White House. John Jr. has some friends of his own, too. His playmates, children of friends of Mrs. Kennedy, may also be on the birthday invitation list.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru is caught in some of his own isms.

This aristocratic but democratic man has picked his precarious way between idealism and realism, passivism and activism, nationalism and internationalism, neutralism and isolationism, socialism, capitalism and communism.

Now at 73, a philosophic agnostic, his road has been twisted out of shape by the Red Chinese. He must try to find a new one at the very moment when he seems to be aging rapidly.

Nehru, educated at Cambridge and far more at home in the English language than in any Indian tongue, moved most of his life in the shadow of two dominant men: his father, Motilal, a rich lawyer, and Mohandas Gandhi.

Yet, when they were gone and he felt most alone, he emerged as dominant as either. He became the father of India as it began its independence in the 1940s with problems of poverty and illiteracy as appalling as any in history.

He could have been a rich lawyer, too. But he went with Gandhi. Nationalism—Indian independence—became his life. To fulfill it he spent nine years in British jails for political activity and passive resistance.

He studied capitalism, socialism, Marxism. He rejected communism and for India sought a middle way between capitalism and socialism under democracy because of his dedication to freedom, personal and political.

For this the Red Chinese reviled him. He sought their friendship. They called him the "running dog" of imperialism. He ignored this and made excuses for their excesses, hoping they'd change.

They didn't, as their invasion of India showed. They just softened their public contempt when it was convenient. There was no mystery about it.

Neutral Nehru was a menacing challenge. If India prospered under freedom it would make a farce of the sacrifices the Chinese people, also in search of a good life, had to endure under communism.

Nehru rejected organized religion with a skepticism that began early. But Gandhi said fondly of his agnostic disciple: "He is nearer God than many who profess to be worshippers" of God.

Yet this man without a creed—in India where Moslems and Hindus, living side by side, have slaughtered one another—sought and achieved a secular state where all men are to be considered equally free and freely equal.

This, according to his best biographer, Michael Brecher, was Nehru's "most notable accomplishment," although Brecher criticizes him for poor administration.

lack of decision and a wide gap "between words and deeds."

His passive resistance against the British in India was not a way of life with him. It was only a means to an end, his only weapon, when the British had all the weapons. He prefers non-violence but will use force when it helps.

This implies contradiction in him. There is plenty of that. There is also hypocrisy. He who has preached peaceful settlements to others uses naked force when it serves him, as in grabbing Goa from the Portuguese in India.

All his life he has denounced colonialism and imperialism but has practiced both when it suited his purpose. For instance: in seizing the Kashmir territory with his troops although the people might want to be part of Pakistan.

Thus Nehru, who talks brotherhood and internationalism, is a strict nationalist when India's interests are involved.

He told an American Congress in 1949 there is no room for isolationism. But, by remaining neutral in the struggle between the West and communism, he has become the world's No. 1 isolationist.

Nehru sought to avoid foreign entanglement and the expense that went with it. In this way he could pour most of India's resources into its own development. This explains why he kept down the size of his armed forces.

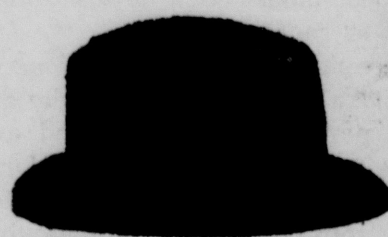

This was where his idealism got the better of his realism, as the Chinese invasion demonstrated. He now wryly admits: "We are getting out of touch with reality in the modern world. We are living in an artificial atmosphere of our own creation and we have been shaken out of it."

Has he? Perhaps not. A fatal, final clash with Red China now seems inevitable. He may be too old, too tired to drive India into a new direction with Western alliances and enormous sums for armaments.

After Nehru, what? No one knows. Perhaps chaos and a turn to the far right.

With returns from six overseas districts still unreported, the other party standings were:

(1958 result in parentheses): Independent-Republicans and Peasants 50 seats (120), Popular Republican Movement (MRP) 38 (44), Radical-Socialists and allies 43 (36), Socialists 67 (40), Communists 41 (10), other 4.

The UNR collected 40.6 per cent of the vote, compared with 26.4 per cent in 1958. Of more than 21 million registered voters in districts voting Sunday, 15,420,148 went to the polls. The percentage of stay-at-homes, 30.7, was one of the highest for a legislative election in this century.

De Gaulle is expected to call on Premier Georges Pompidou to form a new government which may serve for much of the new assembly's five-year term.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

More sunshine and dry weather is in prospect for all of Ohio today. Some cloudiness may arrive to dim the sun Wednesday, although conditions appear favorable for continued dry weather.

The morning weather map shows widespread rain over the Southern and Central Great Plains area covers the Great Lakes and the Ohio Valley.

The high pressure is holding up the rain over the central part of the nation, and until the pressure breaks down, dry and generally mild weather will continue.

Temperatures dropped below freezing Monday night over all of Ohio, reaching the lowest point at Toledo where 20 degrees was recorded. Columbus had 23, Zanesville 25, Cincinnati 26 and Cleveland 27. All are expected to reach the high 40s or low 50s this afternoon.

Work To Continue At Hillsboro Plant

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Work at the Moore Drop Forging Co. plant here was scheduled to continue today despite a strike by most of the plant's employees.

About 120 of Moore's 160 employees walked out Monday and set up picket lines, officials said. The pickets said they went on strike because the company and United Auto Workers Local 192 have failed to reach a contract agreement.

Officials Ask Legislature To Clarify Closing Laws

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

City officials and businessmen, who appear to be more confused by the day over what to do about Ohio's Sunday closing laws, have begun turning to the legislature for help.

In Lancaster, the city council authorized preparation of a resolution to the General Assembly to either clarify or repeal the laws.

In Springfield, a hurriedly-formed small businessmen's association said it has received assurances from lawmakers that the issue would go into the legislative hopper early in the session convening Jan. 7 and with that assurance asked the Springfield City Commission to declare a moratorium on enforcement.

Springfield Law Director Thomas J. Veskauf had said earlier that the laws should be enforced to the letter, but he said he will not ask for the enforcement until after he completes a thorough study of past court decisions in an attempt to determine what items can be classified as essential.

John Schuler, a Springfield bakery operator and a spokesman for the association, which he said was formed Friday, said 137 small businessmen signed the petition. He said the association only asked for a moratorium until the legislature is given a chance to act on the matter. The commission indicated it would act on the petition at a later meeting.

But while some communities continue to talk about the laws, others are cracking down.

In Mansfield, police made three arrests Monday as the result of investigations Sunday.

Charged with causing a place to be open for transaction of business on Sunday in violation of the state code were: Don Burnett, assistant manager of the Giant Store; Boris Wiggins, president of the Five Cousins Discount Center; and George Cooper, manager of the Giant Tiger Store.

All were released after posting $25 bond. They were to appear today in Municipal Court.

The first arrests in Mansfield's crackdown on Sunday sales were made a week ago when the assistant manager of the Giant Tiger Store and the manager of the Giant Store were cited. They are to appear in court Wednesday.

The three businesses involved are the three major discount stores here. All major food stores and coin-operated laundries have followed the wishes of Mayor Charles H. Scott and locked their doors on Sunday.

Drug stores and small neighborhood groceries have remained open and so far have not been bothered by police. However, Scott said the crackdown will continue.

Lausche Opposed To Service Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The plan for a "domestic peace corps" might mean "we will have more guides working for the government than we have people to guide," says Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

The senator voiced his opposition to the proposal for a National Service Corps to work with in the United States as the Peace Corps does overseas in a letter to an Ohio constituent.

He said the proposal is "another step in the direction of centralizing power in the present plethora of bureaus already existing in Washington."

Lausche cited the 1960 census figures as showing a total 2,147,663 teachers, social and welfare workers, recreational personnel, law officers and clergymen. He said they were all, in effect, "peace corps workers."

He then listed a population of 27,393,055 juveniles in the 12 to 21 age bracket. "Thus without the parents we have one worker to every 13 juveniles," he said.

Station Licensed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission says it has granted a license for an FM radio station — WSRW-FM Hillsboro, Ohio.

The commission also said it has received an application from the Capital Broadcasting Corp. for a construction permit for a standard radio station in Barnesville, Ohio. The station would broadcast on 950 kilocycles, daytime, with a power of 500 watts.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 27, the 331st day of 1962; here are 34 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1632, the English statesman, Sir John Eliot, died in the Tower of London. Because Eliot led opposition to King Charles I, the monarch so hated him that he refused to permit Eliot's family have his body for burial.

On this day: In 1520, Portuguese navigator Ferdinand Magellan entered the Pacific Ocean.

In 1703, London was hit by a great storm that caused an estimated $10 million damage, killed 8,000 persons, wrecked seven English warships and demolished Eddystone Lighthouse.

In 1873, America's first tunnel, the Hoosac Tunnel in Massachusetts, was completed after many interruptions.

In 1937, Japan took over Chinese postal and communications facilities in Shanghai.

In 1942, the greater part of the French fleet at Toulon was scuttled and the naval base blown up as the conquering German forces entered.

Today's birthdays: Orchestra conductor Leon Barzin is 62. Business executive Victor Nyberg is 57.

Thought for today: Business is other people's money—Mme. DeGirardin.

Caroline Set For Party on 5th Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caroline Kennedy is 5 today and there'll be a double-barreled birthday party in the White House.

Brother John Jr. was 2 on Sunday but was unable to go to Cape Cod with the rest of the Kennedy family for a long Thanksgiving weekend because he had a cold.

The word from the White House today is that he'll be able to go to the birthday party.

If it's anything like last year, a lot of fun and surprises are in store for the President's children and their friends.

Mrs. Kennedy won't let word out on plans for the celebration. It's a private affair for the youngsters.

Likely to join in the festivities are some 20 youngsters who attend nursery school with Caroline on the third floor of the White House. John Jr. has some friends of his own, too. His playmates, children of friends of Mrs. Kennedy, may also be on the birthday invitation list.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru is caught in some of his own isms.

This aristocratic but democratic man has picked his precarious way between idealism and realism, passivism and activism, nationalism and internationalism, neutralism and isolationism, socialism, capitalism and communism.

Now at 73, a philosophic agnostic, his road has been twisted out of shape by the Red Chinese. He must try to find a new one at the very moment when he seems to be aging rapidly.

Nehru, educated at Cambridge and far more at home in the English language than in any Indian tongue, moved most of his life in the shadow of two dominant men: his father, Motilal, a rich lawyer, and Mohandas Gandhi.

Yet, when they were gone and he felt most alone, he emerged as dominant as either. He became the father of India as it began its independence in the 1940s with problems of poverty and illiteracy as appalling as any in history.

He could have been a rich lawyer, too. But he went with Gandhi. Nationalism — Indian independence—became his life. To fulfill it he spent nine years in British jails for political activity and passive resistance.

He studied capitalism, socialism, Marxism. He rejected communism and for India sought a middle way between capitalism and socialism under democracy because of his dedication to freedom, personal and political.

For this the Red Chinese reviled him. He sought their friendship. They called him the "running dog" of imperialism. He ignored this and made excuses for their excesses, hoping they'd change.

They didn't, as their invasion of India showed. They just softened their public contempt when it was convenient. There was no mystery about it.

Neutral Nehru was a menacing challenge. If India prospered under freedom it would make a farce of the sacrifices the Chinese people, also in search of a good life, had to endure under communism.

Nehru rejected organized religion with a skepticism that began early. But Gandhi said fondly of his agnostic disciple: "He is nearer God than many who profess to be worshippers" of God.

Yet this man without a creed—in India where Moslems and Hindus, living side by side, have slaughtered one another—sought and achieved a secular state where all men are to be considered equally free and freely equal.

This, according to his best biographer, Michael Brecher, was Nehru's "most notable accomplishment," although Brecher criticizes him for poor administration.

lack of decision and a wide gap "between words and deeds."

His passive resistance against the British in India was not a way of life with him. It was only a means to an end, his only weapon, when the British had all the weapons. He prefers non-violence but will use force when it helps.

This implies contradiction in him. There is plenty of that. There is also hypocrisy. He who has preached peaceful settlements to others uses naked force when it serves him, as in grabbing Goa from the Portuguese in India.

All his life he has denounced colonialism and imperialism but has practiced both when it suited his purpose. For instance: in seizing the Kashmir territory with his troops although the people might want to be part of Pakistan.

Thus Nehru, who talks brotherhood and internationalism, is a strict nationalist when India's interests are involved.

He told an American Congress in 1949 there is no room for isolationism. But, by remaining neutral in the struggle between the West and communism, he has become the world's No. 1 isolationist.

Nehru sought to avoid foreign entanglement and the expense that went with it. In this way he could pour most of India's resources into its own development. This explains why he kept down the size of his armed forces.

This was where his idealism got the better of his realism, as the Chinese invasion demonstrated. He now wryly admits: "We are getting out of touch with reality in the modern world. We are living in an artificial atmosphere of our own creation and we have been shaken out of it."

Has he? Perhaps not. A fatal, final clash with Red China now seems inevitable. He may be too old, too tired to drive India into a new direction with Western alliances and enormous sums for armaments.

After Nehru, what? No one knows. Perhaps chaos and a turn to the far right.

Custer Anniversary

Proof that civilization in the United States is still young is found in the reminder that it is only 94 years since the Battle of the Washita was fought. The date was Nov. 27, 1868. It was a disastrous defeat for the red men.

On Nov. 25 of that year Gen. George A. Custer and the Seventh Cavalry moved out of Ft. Supply, Indian Territory, in a campaign against the Cheyenne Indians, who had been raiding settlers in Kansas and elsewhere. Two days later he surprised the Indians under Chief Black Kettle in camp on the Washita River and practically wiped them out in an early morning engagement.

Established by Gen. Phil Sheridan in 1868, Camp Supply was maintained as an Army post until 1891. Many of the buildings were retained and converted into use by a state hospital. Located in western Oklahoma, this historic spot now greatly interests tourists.

A Woodward, Okla., civic club has erected a marker at the site of the Battle of the Washita. This engagement was one of the outstanding achievements of the daring Custer, who lost his life eight years later in the Battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana. Custer's losses in the Battle of the Washita were 19 killed, including Major Elliott and Captain Hamilton, and 13 wounded. Indian casualties were listed as 103 killed and 53 captured.

A large part of the United States was a prairie wilderness less than a century ago, where the white man and the Indian fought for supremacy.

Following the Birds

Northerners, perhaps in unprecedented numbers, are flocking to the South to escape the blizzards and Arctic blasts of winter, if only for a few weeks. Going south for the winter, or for a winter vacation, has become a habit for millions who live and work in areas of the nation less favorably blessed climatically during the winter months.

Providing accommodations for winter visitors is big business in the entire southern part of the nation, and especially in Florida and southern California. These range all the way to chi-chi hotels and motels, some of them equipped with every device for creature comfort known to man.

The multi-billion-dollar business of cattering to refugees from the cold has a great future because every one in the North who will not make at least a hurried trip to the South this winter is looking forward hopefully to the day when such a journey will be possible. The birds, they are convinced, have the right approach to the problem of what to do when snow descends upon their summer range.

The number of residents of the northern latitudes who retire and spend their winters at least in the South is growing each year. And the glowing reports of climatic bliss they send to their friends in the North augur well for the future of the winter resort business.

Americans Have Eye Trouble

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

Half the American people have some sort of eye trouble.

One big reason why only 30 per cent of medical students plan to become general practitioners is that they make only about $16,000 annually but specialists earn about $35,000.

Weather forecasting by kites was introduced in 1700 by Dr. Alexander Wilson of Glasgow. The U.S. Weather Bureau also sent its thermometers aloft in kites until 1930, when it switched to high-altitude balloons.

There was such a thing as a $3 bill. It was issued by the Republic of Texas in the 1840s.

If America ever adopts the metric system, think what it will do to some of our familiar expressions: "A miss is as good as a kilometer." "I wouldn't touch him with a 3,048 meter pole."

Only 9 per cent of the U.S. employed population works on farms, and our problem is food surpluses. In the Soviet Union 48 per cent of its workers labor on farms, and their problem is food shortages.

"Man is an animal that makes bargains; no other animal does this—no dog exchanges bones with another"—Adam Smith.

Among new paper products being developed are fire-and-water-resistant uniforms; shirts that can be worn once and discarded; non-skid, long-wearing, frost-proof coatings for highways.

Some 40 viruses are believed involved in the common cold. That's why science is having such a hard time coming up with an all-purpose cure.

Researchers have found that, because of poor listening habits, most people forget in two days up to 75 per cent of what they hear. But is that such a bad idea—considering what they hear?

Frogs can catch athlete's foot. The king of hearts is the only king in a 52-card deck who doesn't wear a moustache as well as a beard. The cleanest air is over deserts. President Zachary Taylor never voted until he was 62.

It was Don Herold who observed, "Pleasure is more trouble than trouble."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of businessmen have the feeling that some of the old rules of the game are being changed. Like it or not, they'll have to adjust.

And the same could well apply to workers, investors, savers, debtors, and in time to consumers—which is to say to everybody.

Making money may be a different proposition from now on than during the 17 years since the end of World War II. During most of that time profits rose, personal incomes went up even faster, the cost of living climbed—all of this almost automatically.

Has that era ended? Is a new one starting, with new rules to be learned, new dangers to be overcome?

Businessmen who complain of the squeeze on profits are saying today that it has. Earnings no longer soar automatically with sales volume. Management blames still rising production costs, high taxes, price weakness. Many see in this year's gyrations of the stock market evidence that the era of inflation is over, that stock prices now are tied closer to individual company performance and prospects.

Here are some of the factors that have brought on the era of the profit squeeze, and some that may guide management in dealing with it in the changing business climate.

Production costs have climbed steadily as wage scales rose each year. Until recently the cost of most industrial materials has gone up annually. The cost of transportation and distribution, and the increasing number of services required along the way from producer to consumer, still tends to increase.

That is one part of the squeeze. For years, the prices of finished goods themselves rose, too. And there was no squeeze.

But today it's hard to raise prices. And here's why:

During the easy profit years, many fields became crowded with new firms wanting in on a good thing and old ones diversifying for the same reason. Today these fields often seem overcrowded. The competition is keen, and one company can't raise prices because his rivals won't. In more than one industry there's idle capacity that could be put to work—if there were any profit in it, and complicating all this is the sudden spurt of foreign goods turned out by industries built up after the war and now looking for more markets.

Finally, there are new guidelines laid down by the federal government, designed to discourage general price increases or inflation brought on by labor demands that Washington might label excessive. Management got the word from government in the squabble over the steel price hike attempt last April. Many in management still are skeptical about how the guidelines will work with labor.

The profit squeeze gives today's economy a new look in two ways. Labor-management negotiations will be tougher—if prices can't rise, management will be slow to grant new wage hikes. And if profits are held down, companies will find it harder to raise funds to modernize plants or build new ones. This could mean fewer new jobs, as well as loss of markets at home and abroad to foreign competitors.

And a third factor—the role of government in business decisions,

RESERVISTS HAVE revived the World War pleasantry about the sergeant who barked, "When I say 'fire' I want all of you to fire at Will!"—whereupon one recruit jumped up and ran like blazes. "Who was that man?" demanded the sergeant. The answer: "That was Will."

"English in the vernacular," writes Penny Droke, "can be a pretty painful thing sometimes. Once the great American public gets hold of a good phrase, it often worries it to death. Like this: 'Time-wise, you do better on the turnpike, but traffic-wise, the old road is better.' Or 'food-wise, it's the best place in town, but it's not much atmosphere-wise.' Or that other current favorite: 'He's an actor's actor' or 'a writer's writer,' or whatever. We recently heard a Skid Row hotel referred to as a 'flop-house's flop-house.'"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

What is chronic bronchitis? What can you do for it?

Chronic bronchitis refers to a loose, rattling cough that lingers more than a month. Each morning you bring up an ounce or so of infected mucus.

Healthy bronchial lining can conquer any infection.

Chronic bronchitis lingers when germs constantly drip down from an infected throat or sinus and when tobacco smoke, furnace fumes and belching exhaust irritate bronchial lining.

It starts with a mild cough that rattles a little more after each cold. Wintery rain and frosty fog make you hack and bark.

Pneumonia strikes when bronchitis settles lower.

Veins stand out on your purple forehead as cough after cough explodes. Hernias start when this force rips through thick abdominal muscles.

You don't feel sick unless you're down with pneumonia. There's no fever but partially clogged bronchial passages narrow when you exhale and stop up, trapping inhaled air inside the lung.

Growing pressure tears through the walls of tiny air sacs—emphysema. You begin to feel short of breath.

Fight chronic bronchitis! Stop smoking—for at least a month. Stay away from dust and fumes. Sleep in a comfortably warm room.

If possible, try a vacation in a dry, warm, dust-free climate.

Your doctor can prescribe cough medicines to loosen thick mucus and relax bronchial spasm. He'll have to clear up any sinus or throat infection with antibiotic germ-killers and special treatments.

Guard against respiratory infections which magnify that chronic bronchitis. Stay away from people with colds.

Ask your doctor for flu shots. He'll probably prescribe modern miracle drugs for every minor cold. They don't cure colds, but they do prevent complicating pneumonia.

Smoke less and enjoy it more. Join the community fight against soot, smog and air pollution. You're inhaling that smoke 24 hours a day!

Not Too Much Squirming

The American people have gone through a crisis without too much squirming; at any moment, it might have broken into a thermonuclear war. The crisis dragged on for a month, and became more dangerous when it seemed as though it might give way to a sudden calmness.

The real danger was the accidental incident, for both sides were poised for immediate retaliation. The spell was really broken by the Sino-Indian War, which seemed to Americans to be a by-play, but which, in terms of the Soviet Universal State, is a main issue. The question was whether Moscow or Peking would prevail; whether Stalinism or Co-Existence would prevail; whether the Soviet Universal State would be shattered as by an earthquake in the struggle between Mao Tse-tung and Nikita Khrushchev for primacy.

True, Castro gave Mao Tse-tung and the springboard and forced Khrushchev to accept President Kennedy's terms, saving whatever face thermonuclear war at this time, not when the Red Chinese were able to move into Pakistan and wheel through the Khyber Pass and other passes into Turkistan and up from Peking into Mongolia and Siberia. It is always risky business, having allies.

I recall an incident which may clarify the point. Chi Hsieh-yuan was a Tsuchun of Kiangsu Province and Sun Chuan-fang was the Tsuchun of Chekiang Province. Between them lay Shanghai with its enormous revenues, particularly the illicit opium revenue. Chi was short of troops, having used some of the money set aside for troops, for private purposes, a not unusual custom. Chi therefore sought for allies and found Chang Chun-chang, the Manchuria free-booter, available with an excellent army. So being a wise man, Chi put Chang in front of his own troops, so that if anybody got killed, it would be Chang's men. However, Chang, having been paid and being stationed in an area where he could seize plenty of revenue, stood still and bargained with the two Tsuchuns on what they would pay to get rid of him. I learned all about allies from him.

Khrushchev is learning much about Chinese stratagems and he can learn more if he will read the classic, "The Three Kingdoms," which, in my day, every school-boy knew by heart in one form or another, and which, to put it mildly, shows with what brilliance a smart man does away with friend and foe, until he becomes the master of all.

President Kennedy may never become such a heroic figure as Teddy Roosevelt, charging up San Juan Hill, but he has handled the Havana-Moscow gambit with more skill than is even now recognized. His first objective was clearly to avoid a thermonuclear war, but to maintain our prestige and dignity. There are those in our population who, never having studied Russian strategy and having no experts to assist them, are sure that it could not have happened. But they cannot deny that Khrushchev did manage to supply and erect a Russian base on the island of Cuba and that while our espionage kept right on his tail, we waited patiently until the proof was ours and unmistakable.

Although most of us were impatient with the President for not acting quickly enough, it begins to look as though the slower approach were the wiser, for we seem to be coming out of the Cuban situation without war but with enhanced prestige.

Although most of us were impatient with the President for not acting quickly enough, it begins to look as though the slower approach were the wiser, for we seem to be coming out of the Cuban situation without war but with enhanced prestige.

Before a nation goes to war, it must be sure of its military posture; that means that there must be a very conservative estimate that there is a good chance to win. The genius of Bismarck in 1870 was that he waited to attack France until he was certain that he could win with one punch. The Kaiser believed that he could do that in 1914, but the one punch did not do the job and after 18 months, the United States upset the balance and the Kaiser was defeated. Hitler's campaign against the world was brilliantly executed; he conquered most of Europe, moved into North Africa and lasted on many fronts for six years. But he failed to calculate closely and conservatively the industrial, military and financial power of the United States or the solidity of the American people in time of crisis. It would have been child's play to send Marines into Cuba, seize Castro by the beard, hang him off a tree.

But what else would have happened?

Custer Anniversary

Proof that civilization in the United States is still young is found in the reminder that it is only 94 years since the Battle of the Washita was fought. The date was Nov. 27, 1868. It was a disastrous defeat for the red men.

On Nov. 25 of that year Gen. George A. Custer and the Seventh Cavalry moved out of Ft. Supply, Indian Territory, in a campaign against the Cheyenne Indians, who had been raiding settlers in Kansas and elsewhere. Two days later he surprised the Indians under Chief Black Kettle in camp on the Washita River and practically wiped them out in an early morning engagement.

Established by Gen. Phil Sheridan in 1868, Camp Supply was maintained as an Army post until 1891. Many of the buildings were retained and converted into use by a state hospital. Located in western Oklahoma, this historic spot now greatly interests tourists.

A Woodward, Okla., civic club has erected a marker at the site of the Battle of the Washita. This engagement was one of the outstanding achievements of the daring Custer, who lost his life eight years later in the Battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana. Custer's losses in the Battle of the Washita were 19 killed, including Major Elliott and Captain Hamilton, and 13 wounded. Indian casualties were listed as 103 killed and 53 captured.

A large part of the United States was a prairie wilderness less than a century ago, where the white man and the Indian fought for supremacy.

Following the Birds

Northerners, perhaps in unprecedented numbers, are flocking to the South to escape the blizzards and Arctic blasts of winter, if only for a few weeks. Going south for the winter, or for a winter vacation, has become a habit for millions who live and work in areas of the nation less favorably blessed climatically during the winter months.

Providing accommodations for winter visitors is big business in the entire southern part of the nation, and especially in Florida and southern California. These range all the way to chi-chi hotels and motels, some of them equipped with every device for creature comfort known to man. The multi-billion-dollar business of cattering to refugees from the cold has a great future because every one in the North who will not make at least a hurried trip to the South this winter is looking forward hopefully to the day when such a journey will be possible. The birds, they are convinced, have the right approach to the problem of what to do when snow descends upon their summer range.

The number of residents of the northern latitudes who retire and spend their winters at least in the South is growing each year. And the glowing reports of climatic bliss they send to their friends in the North augur well for the future of the winter resort business.

Americans Have Eye Trouble

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Half the American people have some sort of eye trouble.

One big reason why only 20 per cent of medical students plan to become general practitioners is that they make only about $16,000 annually but specialists earn about $35,000.

Weather forecasting by kites was introduced in 1700 by Dr. Alexander Wilson of Glasgow. The U.S. Weather Bureau also sent its thermometers aloft in kites until 1930, when it switched to high-altitude balloons.

There was such a thing as a $3 bill. It was issued by the Republic of Texas in the 1840s.

If America ever adopts the metric system, think what it will do to some of our familiar expressions: "A miss is as good as 1,609 kilometers." "I wouldn't touch him with a 3,049 meter pole!"

Only 2 per cent of the U.S. employed population works on farms, and our problem is food surpluses. In the Soviet Union 48 per cent of its workers labor on farms, and their problem is food shortages. "Man is an animal that makes bargains; no other animal does this—no dog exchanges bones with another"—Adam Smith.

Among new paper products being developed are fire-and-water-resistant uniforms; shirts that can be worn once and discarded; non-skid, long-wearing, frost-proof coatings for highways.

Some 40 viruses are believed involved in the common cold. That's why science is having such a hard time coming up with an all-purpose cure.

Researchers have found that, because of poor listening habits, most people forget in two days up to 75 per cent of what they hear. But is that such a bad idea—considering what they hear?

Frogs can catch athlete's foot. The king of hearts is the only king in a 52-card deck who doesn't wear a mustache as well as a beard. The cleanest air is over deserts. President Zachary Taylor never voted until he was 62.

It was Don Herold who observed, "Pleasure is more trouble than trouble."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of businessmen have the feeling that some of the old rules of the game are being changed. Like it or not, they'll have to adjust.

And the same could well apply to workers, investors, savers, debtors, and in time to consumers—which is to say everybody.

Making money may be a different proposition from now on than during the 17 years since the end of World War II. During most of that time profits rose, personal incomes went up even faster, the cost of living climbed—all of this almost automatically.

Has that era ended? Is a new one starting, with new rules to be learned, new dangers to be overcome?

Businessmen who complain of the squeeze on profits are saying today that it has. Earnings no longer soar automatically with sales volume. Management blames still rising production costs, high taxes, price weakness. Many see in this year's gyrations of the stock market evidence that the era of inflation is over, that stock prices now are tied closer to individual company performance and prospects.

Here are some of the factors that have brought on the era of the profit squeeze, and some that may guide management in dealing with it in the changing business climate.

Production costs have climbed steadily as wage scales rose each year. Until recently the cost of most industrial materials has gone up annually. The cost of transportation and distribution, and the increasing number of services required along the way from producer to consumer, still tends to increase.

That is one part of the squeeze. For years, the prices of finished goods themselves rose, too. And there was no squeeze.

But today it's hard to raise prices. And here's why:

During the easy profit years, many fields became crowded with new firms wanting in on a good thing and old ones diversifying for the same reason. Today these fields often seem overcrowded. The competition is keen, and one company can't raise prices because his rivals won't. In more than one industry there's idle capacity that could be put to work—if there were any profit in it. And complicating all this is the sudden spurt of foreign goods turned out by industries built up after the war and now looking for more markets.

Finally, there are new guidelines laid down by the federal government, designed to discourage general price increases or inflation brought on by labor demands that Washington might label excessive. Management got the word from government in the squabble over the steel price hike attempt last April. Many in management still are skeptical about how the guidelines will work with labor.

The profit squeeze gives today's economy a new look in two ways. Labor-management negotiations will be tougher—if prices can't rise, management will be slow to grant new wage hikes. And if profits are held down, companies will find it harder to raise funds to modernize plants or build new ones. This could mean fewer new jobs, as well as loss of markets at home and abroad to foreign competitors.

And a third factor—the role of government in business decisions,

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

RESERVISTS HAVE revived the World War pleasantry about the sergeant who barked, "When I say 'fire' I want all of you to fire at Will!"—whereupon one recruit jumped up and ran like blazes. "Who was that man?" demanded the sergeant. The answer: "That was Will."

"English in the vernacular," writes Penny Droke, "can be a pretty painful thing sometimes. Once the great American public gets hold of a good phrase, it often worries it to death. Like this: 'Time-wise, you do better on the turnpike, but traffic-wise, the old road is better.' Or 'food-wise, it's the best place in town, but it's not much atmosphere-wise.' Or that other current favorite: 'He's an actor's actor' or 'a writer's writer,' or whatever. We recently heard a Skid Row hotel referred to as a 'flop-house's flophouse.'"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

What is chronic bronchitis? What can you do for it?

Chronic bronchitis refers to a loose, rattling chest cough that lingers more than a month. Each morning you bring up an ounce or so of infected mucus.

Healthy bronchial lining can conquer any infection.

Chronic bronchitis lingers when germs constantly drip down from an infected throat or sinus and when tobacco smoke, furnace fumes and belching exhaust irritate bronchial lining.

It starts with a mild cough that rattles a little more after each cold. Wintery rain and frosty fog make you hack and bark.

Pneumonia strikes when bronchitis settles lower.

Veins stand out on your purple forehead as cough after cough explodes. Hernias start when this force rips through thick abdominal muscles.

You don't feel sick unless you're down with pneumonia. There's no fever but partially clogged bronchial passages narrow when you exhale and stop up, trapping inhaled air inside the lung.

Growing pressure tears through the walls of tiny air sacs — emphysema. You begin to feel short of breath.

Fight chronic bronchitis! Stop smoking — for at least a month. Stay away from dust and fumes. Sleep in a comfortably warm room. If possible, try a vacation in a dry, warm, dust-free climate.

Your doctor can prescribe cough medicines to loosen thick mucus and relax bronchial spasm. He'll have to clear up any sinus or throat infection with antibiotic germ-killers and special treatments.

Guard against respiratory infections which magnify that chronic bronchitis. Stay away from people with colds.

Ask your doctor for flu shots. He'll probably prescribe modern miracle drugs for every minor cold. They don't cure colds, but they do prevent complicating pneumonia.

Smoke less and enjoy it more. Join the community fight against soot, smog and air pollution. You're inhaling that smoke 24 hours a day!

in labor negotiations, to consumer goods pricing will be greater and more evident in the new era.

Not Too Much Squirming

The American people have gone through a crisis without too much squirming; at any moment, it might have broken into a thermonuclear war. The crisis dragged on for a month, and became more dangerous when it seemed as though it might give way to a sudden calmness.

The real danger was the accidental incident, for both sides were poised for immediate retaliation. The spell was really broken by the Sino-Indian War, which seemed to Americans to be a by-play, but which, in terms of the Soviet Universal State, is a main issue. The question was whether Moscow or Peking would prevail; whether Stalinism or Co-Existence would prevail; whether the Soviet Universal State would be shattered as by an earthquake in the struggle between Mao Tse-tung and Nikita Khrushchev for primacy.

True, Castro gave Mao Tse-tung and the springboard and forced Khrushchev to accept President Kennedy's terms, saving whatever face thermonuclear war at this time, not when the Red Chinese were able to move into Pakistan and wheel through the Khyber Pass and other passes into Turkistan and up from Peking into Mongolia and Siberia. It is always risky business, having allies.

I recall an incident which may clarify the point. Chi Hsueh-yuan was a Tsuchun of Kiangsu Province and Sun Chuan-fang was the Tsuchun of Chekiang Province. Between them lay Shanghai with its enormous revenues, particularly the illicit opium revenue. Chi was short of troops, having used some of the money set aside for troops, for private purposes, a not unusual custom. Chi therefore sought for allies and found Chang Chun-chang, the Manchuria free-booter, available with an excellent army. So being a wise man, Chi put Chang in front of his own troops, so that if anybody got killed, it would be Chang's men. However, Chang, having been paid and being stationed in an area where he could seize plenty of revenue, stood still and bargained with the two Tsuchuns on what they would pay to get rid of him. I learned all about allies from him.

Khrushchev is learning much about Chinese stratagems and he can learn more if he will read the classic, "The Three Kingdoms," which, in my day, every school-boy knew by heart in one form or another, and which, to put it mildly, shows with what brilliance a smart man does away with friend and foe, until he becomes the master of all.

President Kennedy may never become such a heroic figure as Teddy Roosevelt, charging up San Juan Hill, but he has handled the Havana-Moscow gambit with more skill than is even now recognized. His first objective was clearly to avoid a thermonuclear war, but to maintain our prestige and dignity. There are those in our population who, never having studied Russian strategy and having no experts to assist them, are sure that it could not have happened. But they cannot deny that Khrushchev did manage to supply and erect a Russian base on the island of Cuba and that while our espionage kept right on his tail, we waited patiently until the proof was ours and unmistakable.

Although most of us were impatient with the President for not acting quickly enough, it begins to look as though the slower approach were the wiser, for we seem to be coming out of the Cuban situation without war but with enhanced prestige.

Although most of us were impatient with the President for not acting quickly enough, it begins to look as though the slower approach were the wiser, for we seem to be coming out of the Cuban situation without war but with enhanced prestige.

Before a nation goes to war, it must be sure of its military posture; that means that there must be a very conservative estimate that there is a good chance to win. The genius of Bismarck in 1870 was that he waited to attack France until he was certain that he could win with one punch. The Kaiser believed that he could do not do the job and after 18 months, the United States upset the balance and the Kaiser was defeated. Hitler's campaign against the world was brilliantly executed; he conquered most of Europe, moved into North Africa and lasted on many fronts for six years. But he failed to calculate closely and conservatively the industrial, military and financial power of the United States or the solidity of the American people in time of crisis. It would have been child's play to send Marines into Cuba, seize Castro by the beard, hang him off a tree.

But what else would have happened?

Group Observes Guest Night

The Harper Bible Class of the First EUB Church held their annual Guest Night and Auction Saturday evening in the service center.

Mrs. Ira Valentine was in charge of devotions. She used as her theme, "The First Thanksgiving". Mrs. Howard Conley opened the meeting with prayer. Readings were given by Mrs. Leroy Thomas, Mrs. Robert Swigart and Mrs. Montford Kirkwood.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Alvin Perdion, Mrs. Swigart, Montford Kirkwood and Robert Swigart sang two numbers, "My Redeemer" and "Near the Cross".

Forrest Brown served as auctioneer for the sale of baked goods, hand made gifts and Christmas decorations.

Guests attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Milton Griest, Mrs. Blanche Kerns, Mrs. Polly Kerns, Richard and Robert Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Manley Carothers and son, Dickie Mrs. Orpha Kirkwood, Miss Lucille Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Robert VanDervort, Mrs. Eleanor Gerhardt, Mrs. Roselyn Ecard, Janice Perdion, Judy Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Zwyer and children, Dezi and Pam, Lynne Easter, Anna Mae Steyers, Jeff Steyers, Carol and Cheryl Kirkwood and Rev. and Mrs. O. F. Gibbs.

Members present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nau, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Radcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Montford Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swigart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dumm, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Steyers and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Perdion.

Personals

Sadrack Njomou from the Federal Republic of Cameroon, and Mohammed Nassor, of Zanzibar, East Africa, both students at Ohio State University, were recent guests of Mrs. Walter Downing and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Downing and family. The opportunity to entertain these young men was secured through the Office of International Student Relations, Ohio State University.

Recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ned R. Young and daughter, Patricia, and Mrs. Grace Leist of 16 E. Union St. were, Turney Glick, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Howell and children, Tommy and Becky Jo., of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Leist, Jerry and Linda of Cedar Hill, Mrs. Delphia McCain of Ashville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald R. Young and daughter, Wendy, of Norfolk, Va.

Ne Plus Ultra SS Class Meets At Kingston

Mrs. Charles Miller presided at the meeting of the Ne Plus Ultra Sunday School Class held recently in the Parish Hall at the Kingston Methodist Church.

The opening hymn was "Come Ye Thankful People, Come" followed by devotions presented by Mrs. Elizabeth O. Bennett. She read several selections; "Thanksgiving is Truly American", "Thankful Heart" and "To Be Thankful".

The usual reports of the secretary, treasurer and visiting committee were given.

Plans were made to help with the purchase of a new type of candle for the sanctuary and a contribution was made toward the Christmas treat for the Primary department of the Sunday School. Instead of the usual individual gifts the children requested a bronze cross for their worship center.

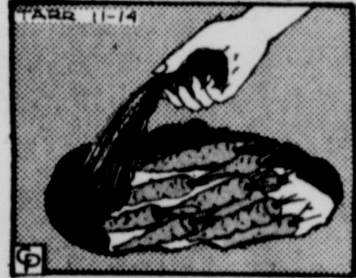

A pot luck dinner and Christmas party is planned for 6:30 p. m. Dec. 18. Articles of food are to be brought for a Christmas basket.

The meeting closed by singing "Faithful Lord Jesus" followed by the class creed.

During the social hour Mrs. Bennett read "Little by Little" and conducted a guessing game.

Refreshments were served to 24 members by the November committee: Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Lawrence Betz, Mrs. Asa Parks, Mrs. William Edler and Mrs. E. W. Freshour.

Boat Jump Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP) — An attempt to board a 65-foot boat docked at the Center Street pier proved fatal Monday to Lawrence Moreau, 52. The Coast Guard said he drowned in 25 feet of water when he slipped as he was jumping aboard the Henry L. and fell into the Cuyahoga River.

Dear Abby: Has His Cake — and Eats It!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every night after school (and on Saturdays) I work in my father's bakery shop. Lately I have started to eat everything in sight. I know I am gaining weight, but I can't stop eating. I am 15 and have never had a date. Do you think my weight has something to do with it? I know chocolate makes my skin break out, but I can't leave that alone. Please scold me or something. I have.

"NO WILLPOWER"

DEAR NO: I could scold you, but it wouldn't help. You need to scold yourself. Writing to me was the first step. It proves that you are unhappy with yourself. The bakery goods are not "free—you are paying for them in the most expensive way: popularity, good looks and self-approval. LAY OFF!

DEAR ABBY: Is there a way to tell a dear friend without hurting her, that I DO NOT wish to talk to her child on the telephone? I seldom call her for that reason. But she calls me often and puts the child on the telephone the moment I say "Hello."

I cannot understand the child and it is extremely exasperating. How can I let my friend know that her child is not as interesting to others as she is to her?

DAILY READER

DEAR READER: If you value her friendship—say nothing. The child will not be a child forever, and a good friend is hard to find.

DEAR ABBY: My wife's aunt came to spend a few days with us. She used the guest room which we recently redecorated. The new wallpaper has a lovely lifelike strawberry pattern all over it. The next morning the aunt came down covered with HIVES. She said she was ALLERGIC to STRAWBERRIES! I saw the hives myself and called our doctor. I said she must have eaten strawberries before she came to our house and this was a delayed reaction. The doctor said she could have gotten the hives from LOOKING at the strawberries on the wallpaper. I have never heard of anything so ridiculous in my life. This can't be possible, can it?

MR. S.S. DEAR MR. S. S.: It is indeed possible. It is called "psychosomatic"—or, more simply, "conditioning."

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine gave me a blouse for my birthday and I have never seen an uglier one. It has every color of the rainbow in it and doesn't go with anything I own. Every time this relative sees me she asks me how come I am not wearing that blouse. What should I say?

CONSERVATIVE

DEAR CONSERVATIVE: Tell her you are saving it for a "special occasion." (True — you never know when you'll be invited to a Hallw'en party.)

JFK, Jackie Will Host High Judges

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Kennedy have invited the Supreme Court and other federal judges to a reception Dec. 6.

A judicial reception at one time was part of the official social schedule at the White House. The Kennedys, however, have rarely had any formal social calendar.

Among other dates on Mrs. Kennedy's social calendar is a tea and meeting Wednesday, Nov. 28 with her special art committees involved in the refurbishing of the White House.

On Thursday night, President and Mrs. Kennedy will participate in the nationwide, closed-circuit television show "Pageant of the Arts" for benefit of the National Cultural Center.

The Kennedys will hold a traditional staff Christmas party from 6 to 8 p. m. on Tuesday, Dec. 12, followed the next day by a noon-time Christmas decor tour of the White House for newspaperwomen.

Mrs. Kennedy also plans a Dec. 13 visit to a District of Columbia institution for homeless youngsters. She will also stop at D. C. Village for Older People, delivering Christmas gifts.

Mrs. Kennedy and her two children are expected to leave a few days later for a Christmas holiday stay at Palm Beach, Fla.

New Designs In Long Socks

By SUSAN BARDEN

The longer the sock, the smarter the look — that's the consensus of opinion among the fashion experts at colleges all over the country.

Lengths vary, but all the socks are longer this year.

Below-the-knee socks that are self supporting provide a perfect complement for shortie skirts, shorts and knickers. Always changing their cables with wide or narrow ribs, they have a sportive air and can cycle around the campus or turn up at an informal afternoon dance with equal aplomb.

The knee-highs in two-tone rib show the second color barely peeping out as the stockings stretch on the legs. Argyle and tweeded miniplaids also turn up in this length to accent the colors favored in a college girl's wardrobe.

The longest version is the same length as theatrical stockings. They reach to the thigh and come in different weights of wool and nylon and many vivid as well as conventional shades.

The vertical stitch gives a slimming effect to the legs.

Dave Bass Named Top Tiger Cager

DAVE BASS

Dave Bass, junior guard for the Circleville High School basketball team, rated high on the efficiency charts kept by the Tiger coaching staff and was named player of the game in the Lancaster tilt.

Paul Reiss, head cagemaster at Circleville, said that Bass played a consistent, level headed floor game, as well as leading the team in scoring with 10 points.

Bass had a .350 shooting average from the field compared to a .220 for the team.

He received most of his points on the efficiency ratings on recoveries rebounds and assists. In several departments he came up with minus scores but his total of 38 was high for Tiger cagers.

OTHER Bengals rated high by the efficiency chart were Garold Dade with a 25 and George Trego with an 18.

Circleville lost the game 56-46, and two of the big reasons for the loss were the Tigers inability to connect from the field and the serious foul trouble the team was in from early in the game.

The chart used by Reiss is one patterned after an efficiency rating used by William Rhor of Northwestern. Players are graded on 16 different aspects of play.

They include offensive and defensive rebounding, turnovers, jump ball tips, assists, recoveries, technical fouls, free throw and field goal percentage.

In the rebound department a center is given three points for each recovery, a forward is awarded five and a guard is given eight.

Each player is given ten points for assists and recoveries, a minus 20 for technical fouls, a minus ten for personal fouls, a minus five for free throws missed and a minus two for field goals missed.

FIVE points are given for successful jump ball tips, free throws and field goals made.

Reiss noted that a score between 30 and 80 was considered good by the coaching staff, and anything over 80 was outstanding.

It is possible to score both well

12 Tilts Slated By Area Cage Units This Week

League Action Starts In Ross, Pickaway, Fairfield Counties

Pickaway County area cage teams get completely into the 1962-63 basketball season this week with 12 games on tap beginning with the Laurelville-Frankfort tilt at Frankfort tonight.

Logan Elm, central district co-champs and runner-up team in the Southeastern Regional at Athens, will be gunning for another outstanding season when the Braves open Saturday against an experienced Centralia High School quintet.

The Ross County league team paced by sophomore sensation Glenn Burchwell, has four wins to its credit in four starts this year.

Keith Merrin has lost such stalwarts as Chuck Spangler, Roger Clarke, Dave Horn and Lennie Hardman who were standout players on the championship team last year.

BUT returning lettermen include Gary Hardman, Danny Hicks, Bob Parker, Terry Anderson.

Other local games played Saturday find Monroe at Bishop Ready, Clarksburg at the Plains of Mt. Sterling, Laurelville at Southeastern.

Friday night several of the area schools begin league competition.

Teays Valley, with one big win to its credit, hosts West Jefferson in a Darby Valley League tilt. Russ Gregg's cagers, many of whom were members of the Viking football team, will be gunning for a win Friday. The Rough Riders handed the Teays Valley football team the first defeat of the year, earlier this fall.

Ned Reichelderfer's Darby Trojans will tangle with Glen Chester's Williamsport aggregate in an important Pickaway County League game at Darby.

Monroe hosts Jackson in a non-loop bout between the two Westfall District schools.

KINGSTON plays in a Ross County league game at Chillicothe Bishop Flaget Friday, and Centralia hosts Huntington, a team the Bulldogs defeated by a slim two point margin in the first game of the season between the two Ross County rivals.

Amanda-Clearcreek hosts Millersport in a Fairfield County league tilt and The Plains and Madison South tangle in a Darby Valley League tilt at Mt. Sterling.

over 100 or to finish with a minus score, according to Reiss.

Films were not taken of the Lancaster tilt.

Warfield of OSU Is Named To All-Big 10 Halfback Post

CHICAGO (AP)—Tackle Bobby Bell of Minnesota and end Pat Richter of Wisconsin were unanimous choices for the 1962 All-Big Ten football team named today by the Associated Press.

With Bell being a unanimous selection for the second straight year, Minnesota placed three men on the first team—all coming from the Gopher line which was recognized as one of the best in the nation.

Other Gophers making the team were guard Julian Hook and end John Campbell. Joining Richter, who also made the team last year, was the other half of champion Wisconsin's tremendous passing combination, quarterback Ron VanderKelen.

Michigan State also grabbed two berths with fullback George Saimes of Canton, Ohio and center Dave Behrman, both repeaters from the 1961 teams. Rounding out the first team were guard Jack Cvercko of Northwestern, tackle Don Brumm of Purdue and halfbacks Marv Woodson of Indiana and Paul Warfield of Ohio State, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan were shutout.

CHICAGO (AP)—The 1962 All-Big Ten football team selected by The Associated Press:

FIRST TEAM
E—Pat Richter, Wisconsin, Sr., 229, 6-6, Madison, Wis.
T—Bobby Bell, Minnesota, Sr., 214, 6-4, Shelby, N.C.

TV Independent Cage League Opens Season

The Teays Valley Independent Basketball League opened play Sunday at the Ashville Harrison school with Stoutsville, Raybo Vending, T.V. Merchants and Groveport winning.

In the first game of the afternoon, Jerry Collins sparked a strong Stoutsville team with 30 points to an 81-64 verdict over the Shur Shots. England led the losers with 27.

The second contest was a hard fought battle between William-sport and Raybo Vending with Raybo emerging as the winner. Benjamin of Raybo sizzled the nets for 30 and Dave Myers hit for 23 for the losers.

Scioto and Teays Valley Merchants hooked up in a real thriller. Scioto jumped to a quick lead and held it until there was less than three minutes remaining in the game. Teays Valley then came in strong to win 51-44.

Dick Miller scored 17 for T.V. Dick Melvin took game honors by scoring 19 for Scioto.

The final game pitted Groveport against Marcy Merchants. Marcy had a well balanced scoring attack, but could not overcome the taller Groveport team and lost 55-45.

The T.V. Independent League is being sponsored by the Teays Valley Booster Club. The teams are former area High School stars.

Next Sunday's schedule pits T.V. Merchants and Groveport at 1:30 p. m.; Marcy and Scioto 2:45 p. m.; Stoutsville and Williamsport 4:00 p. m.; Raybo Elect and Shur Shots 5:15 p. m.

Cage Tickets Due For Early Sale

Tickets for the Circleville-Hills-boro basketball tilt Friday will go on sale at the Highland County gym at 6:15 p. m. on the game date.

The Hillsboro gym can accommodate only 600 fans. Local cage boosters are reminded to leave early in order to obtain seats.

Circleville Youth Bowls a 298 Game

Butch Lutz, 16-year-old son of Russell Lutz 451 E. Ohio St., missed a perfect game by just two pins when he bowled a 298 Friday at Circle D Lanes.

Lutz averages 186 in the Classic league at the East Main St. allies.

The Yankees won their season series with the Minnesota Twins, 11 to 7.

Fans Are Blamed In Benching Move

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A small segment of Pittsburgh's capricious pro football fans have accomplished what few National Football League rivals have done in 15 years—bench Bobby Layne.

Troubled by the vociferous booing Layne has suffered all season by hometown fans, Coach Buddy Parker said Monday night he will keep his veteran quarterback on the sidelines when the Steelers play the St. Louis Cardinals at Forbes Field Sunday.

"I don't think he should be subjected to the abuse of the fans," Parker said. "Bobby doesn't play as well at home as he does away."

Dave Bass Named Top Tiger Cager

DAVE BASS

Dave Bass, junior guard for the Circleville High School basketball team, rated high on the efficiency charts kept by the Tiger coaching staff and was named player of the game in the Lancaster tilt.

Paul Reiss, head cagemaster at Circleville, said that Bass played a consistent, level headed floor game, as well as leading the team in scoring with 10 points.

Bass had a .350 shooting average from the field compared to a .220 for the team.

He received most of his points on the efficiency ratings on recoveries rebounds and assists. In several departments he came up with minus scores but his total of 38 was high for Tiger cagers.

OTHER Bengals rated high by the efficiency chart were Garold Dade with a 25 and George Trego with an 18.

Circleville lost the game 56-46, and two of the big reasons for the loss were the Tigers inability to connect from the field and the serious foul trouble the team was in from early in the game.

The chart used by Reiss is one patterned after an efficiency rating used by William Rhor of Northwestern. Players are graded on 16 different aspects of play.

They include offensive and defensive rebounding, turnovers, jump ball tips, assists, recoveries, technical fouls, free throw and field goal percentage.

In the rebound department a center is given three points for each recovery, a forward is awarded five and a guard is given eight.

Each player is given ten points for assists and recoveries, a minus 20 for technical fouls, a minus ten for personal fouls, a minus five for free throws missed and a minus two for field goals missed.

FIVE points are given for successful jump ball tips, free throws and field goals made.

Reiss noted that a score between 30 and 80 was considered good by the coaching staff, and anything over 80 was outstanding.

It is possible to score both well

12 Tilts Slated By Area Cage Units This Week

League Action Starts In Ross, Pickaway, Fairfield Counties

Pickaway County area cage teams get completely into the 1962-63 basketball season this week with 12 games on tap beginning with the Laurelville-Frankfort tilt at Frankfort tonight.

Logan Elm, central district co-champs and runner-up team in the Southeastern Regional at Athens, will be gunning for another outstanding season when the Braves open Saturday against an experienced Centralia High School quintet.

The Ross County league team paced by sophomore sensation Glenn Burchwell, has four wins to its credit in four starts this year.

Keith Merrin has lost such stalwarts as Chuck Spangler, Roger Clarke, Dave Horn and Lennie Hardman who were standout players on the championship team last year.

BUT returning lettermen include Gary Hardman, Danny Hicks, Bob Parker, Terry Anderson.

Other local games played Saturday find Monroe at Bishop Ready, Clarksburg at the Plains of Mt. Sterling, Laurelville at Southeastern.

Friday night several of the area schools begin league competition.

Teays Valley, with one big win to its credit, hosts West Jefferson in a Darby Valley League tilt. Russ Gregg's cagers, many of whom were members of the Viking football team, will be gunning for a win Friday. The Rough Riders handed the Teays Valley football team the first defeat of the year, earlier this fall.

Ned Reichelderfer's Darby Trojans will tangle with Glen Chester's Williamsport aggregate in an important Pickaway County League game at Darby.

Monroe hosts Jackson in a non-loop bout between the two Westfall District schools.

KINGSTON plays in a Ross County league game at Chillicothe Bishop Flaget Friday, and Centralia hosts Huntington, a team the Bulldogs defeated by a slim two point margin in the first game of the season between the two Ross County rivals.

Amanda-Clearcreek hosts Millersport in a Fairfield County league tilt and The Plains and Madison South tangle in a Darby Valley League tilt at Mt. Sterling.

over 100 or to finish with a minus score, according to Reiss.

Films were not taken of the Lancaster tilt.

Warfield of OSU Is Named To All-Big 10 Halfback Post

CHICAGO (AP)—Tackle Bobby Bell of Minnesota and end Pat Richter of Wisconsin were unanimous choices for the 1962 All-Big Ten football team named today by the Associated Press.

With Bell being a unanimous selection for the second straight year, Minnesota placed three men on the first team—all coming from the Gopher line which was recognized as one of the best in the nation.

Other Gophers making the team were guard Julian Hook and end John Campbell. Joining Richter, who also made the team last year, was the other half of champion Wisconsin's tremendous passing combination, quarterback Ron VanderKelen.

Michigan State also grabbed two berths with fullback George Saimes of Canton, Ohio and center Dave Behrman, both repeaters from the 1961 teams. Rounding out the first team were guard Jack Cvercko of Northwestern, tackle Don Brumm of Purdue and halfbacks Marv Woodson of Indiana and Paul Warfield of Ohio State, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan were shutout.

Skowron Traded to Dodgers For Pitcher Stan Williams

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees, two of baseball's powers, were squarely on the spot today following a daring major inter-league trade that sent first baseman Bill Skowron to the Dodgers in exchange for front-line pitcher Stan Williams.

Yankee manager Ralph Houk admitted he was loath to part with Skowron, 31, who helped bring seven pennants in nine years to the New York club. He said it was a trade the Yankees had to make.

"I felt we just had to get another established starting pitcher if we were to win the pennant again next year," he said. "Trading Skowron was one of the toughest decisions I ever had to make."

The departure of Williams, 26, who won 14 games for the Dodgers last season, was the first move by Dodger general manager E. J. Bavasi, who had vowed to make changes on the club that blew the National League flag in a playoff after going into the final week with a four-game lead.

"We're not through trading by any means," Bavasi promised. "We're going to make a few more before the meetings are ended."

Bavasi hailed Skowron as "the guy who can supply us with the much-needed right-handed punch we lacked last year." Skowron slammed 23 home runs and drove in 80 runs last season.

Williams figures to team up with southpaw Whitey Ford and right-handers Ralph Terry, Bill Stafford and young Jim Bouton to form a five-man starting staff for the Yankees.

In a trade of much lesser impact, the Washington Senators sent Harry Bright, a catcher-first baseman, to the Cincinnati Reds for rookie first baseman Rogelio Alvarez. Bright, 33, a right-handed hitter, slammed 17 home runs and drove in 113 games for the last-place Senators.

Alvarez, 24, was the Pacific Coast League All-Star first baseman, where he hit .318, slammed 18 home runs and drove in 75 runs for the San Diego club.

Valo Returns For Service With Indians

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Elmer Valo, who played with the Cleveland Indians and several other clubs during his 21-year major league career, has returned to the Tribe as a coach.

The signing of Valo Monday completes the Indians' coaching staff. Mel Harder remains as pitching coach, a post he has held several years. George Strickland, another former Indian player, will operate at third base and Valo, a former outfielder, will be at first base.

Valo, 42, retired as a player after the 1961 season. He did most of his playing for the old Philadelphia Athletics. He played for the Indians for one season in the early 1950s.

Five minor leaguers were acquired by the Indians in Monday's draft. They paid $25,000 for catcher Bob Lipski, 24, who had a .253 batting average at Buffalo last season.

Catcher Milton Swift, 19, who hit .321 at Cedar Rapids, cost the Tribe $12,000.

In the $8,000 class were pitcher Joe Cox, 21, 4-8 at Rocky Mount; pitcher Macon Lowe, 21, 3-6 at Dublin and 1-2 at Boise, and outfielder Lee Odiss, 21, a .284 hitter at Billings.

Southern Cal Retains Top Grid Rating

Trojans Will Face Irish on Saturday; Badgers Ranked 2nd

By BOB GREEN

As has happened so often in the past, Notre Dame again holds the key to the national collegiate football championship.

Coach Joe Kuharich's lads from South Bend aren't in the running for the crown their old grads won eight times, but the outcome of their game with Southern California Saturday well could be the determining factor in this year's championship.

Southern California, with the Rose Bowl berth in hand and an unbeaten, untied season in sight, closes its regular season against the Fighting Irish in Los Angeles.

The Trojans, unbeaten in nine games, fought off a strong challenge by Big Ten champion Wisconsin and retained the No. 1 spot in weekly Associated Press rankings.

The national champion will be determined in next week's final poll of the season.

Southern Cal, which secured the Big Six title in a 14-3 comeback triumph over UCLA, gained 19 of 43 first place votes and 397 points on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second and so on.

Wisconsin (8-1) closed its season and won the visiting spot in the Rose Bowl with a 14-9 victory over Minnesota. The Badgers advanced from third to second in the rankings, just 37 points back of Southern California. They took nine first place votes.

The top ten with first place votes in parenthesis:

1. Southern California (19) 397
2. Wisconsin (9) 360
3. Mississippi (12) 350
4. Texas 299
5. Alabama 230
6. Arkansas 187
7. Louisiana State 155
8. Oklahoma 132

Skowron Traded to Dodgers For Pitcher Stan Williams

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees, two of baseball's powers, were squarely on the spot today following a daring major inter-league trade that sent first baseman Bill Skowron to the Dodgers in exchange for front-line pitcher Stan Williams.

Yankee manager Ralph Houk admitted he was loath to part with Skowron, 31, who helped bring seven pennants in nine years to the New York club. He said it was a trade the Yankees had to make.

"I felt we just had to get another established starting pitcher if we were to win the pennant again next year," he said. "Trading Skowron was one of the toughest decisions I ever had to make."

The departure of Williams, 26, who won 14 games for the Dodgers last season, was the first move by Dodger general manager E. J. Bavasi, who had vowed to make changes on the club that blew the National League flag in a playoff after going into the final week with a four-game lead.

"We're not through trading by any means," Bavasi promised. "We're going to make a few more before the meetings are ended."

Bavasi hailed Skowron as "the guy who can supply us with the much-needed right-handed punch we lacked last year." Skowron slammed 23 home runs and drove in 80 runs last season.

Williams figures to team up with southpaw Whitey Ford and right-handers Ralph Terry, Bill Stafford and young Jim Bouton to form a five-man starting staff for the Yankees.

In a trade of much lesser impact, the Washington Senators sent Harry Bright, a catcher-first baseman, to the Cincinnati Reds for rookie first baseman Rogelio Alvarez. Bright, 33, a right-handed hitter, slammed 17 home runs and drove in 67 runs in 113 games for the last-place Senators.

Alvarez, 24, was the Pacific Coast League All-Star first baseman, where he hit .318, slammed 18 home runs and drove in 75 runs for the San Diego club.

Dietzel Puts Much Emphasis On Navy Tilt

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Don't try to sell Army football coach Paul Dietzel on the idea that Saturday's game with Navy is the only one on the Cadets' schedule.

"No, sir," Dietzel grinned today before sending his squad through a workout. "Let's put it this way. We have played one-half of our season. Now we play the other half."

Dietzel, of course, is under no pressure to beat Navy. He is working on the first year of a five-year contract after coming here from Louisiana State, and reportedly told Army brass not to expect miracles at the start. Dale Hall, his predecessor was fired after Navy beat Army for the third straight time last year.

The Cadets know the key to success in this game. They've got to stop Middle quarterback Roger Staubach. To hear Dietzel tell it, Staubach can do everything but erect the goalposts before the game.

"He's fantastic, that Staubach," said Dietzel. "We have scouted Navy in all games this year, and we have seen pictures of their games. I can honestly say I know more about Navy than any other team in the country except Army. Staubach is the man who makes Navy go."

Jockey Buck Thornburg will ride free lance at the Florida race tracks this winter.

Valo Returns For Service With Indians

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Elmer Valo, who played with the Cleveland Indians and several other clubs during his 21-year major league career, has returned to the Tribe as a coach.

The signing of Valo Monday completes the Indians' coaching staff. Mel Harder remains as pitching coach, a post he has held several years. George Strickland, another former Indian player, will operate at third base and Valo, a former outfielder, will be at first base.

Valo, 42, retired as a player after the 1961 season. He did most of his playing for the old Philadelphia Athletics. He played for the Indians for one season in the early 1950s.

Five minor leaguers were acquired by the Indians in Monday's draft. They paid $25,000 for catcher Bob Lipski, 24, who had a .253 batting average at Buffalo last season.

Catcher Milton Swift, 19, who hit .321 at Cedar Rapids, cost the Tribe $12,000.

In the $8,000 class were pitcher Joe Cox, 21, 4-8 at Rocky Mount; pitcher Macon Lowe, 21, 3-6 at Dublin and 1-2 at Boise, and outfielder Lee Odus, 21, a .284 hitter at Billings.

Rhodes, Aides Shape Grave For DiSalle's DIED Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some 40 business and legislative leaders and Gov. James A. Rhodes have begun to dig a grave for DIED — the Department of Industrial and Economic Development.

The "diggings" also served as a foundation for Rhodes to carry out his new jobs and industrial development program for Ohio.

Star Witness Testifies in Liquor Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The special grand jury investigating alleged influence peddling in the State Liquor Department has heard its long-sought star witness, and Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy wants the jury to begin winding up its probe which began nearly two months ago.

However, special counsel Adrian Fink Jr. of Cleveland, Republican attorney selected on the recommendation of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, has different ideas on the length of the investigation.

Following the secret testimony Monday by Chicago distiller Joseph H. Makler, who touched off the investigation with charges he paid to have his bourbon listed for sale in state liquor stores, McElroy asked that the probe be speeded up so it could be completed by the end of the year.

Fink, however, said that a thorough job might take a couple of months or more. He added that he would take the responsibility for an extended probe.

McElroy, Fink and Fink's aide, John Manos of Cleveland, conferred for several hours Monday after the regular jury session had recessed. All that McElroy would say was discuss: "strategy."

Earlier the attorney general said Fink cannot take the responsibility for an extended investigation.

"He keeps saying he is going to have a thorough investigation. He doesn't care how much it costs."

McElroy said the $25,000 provided for the investigation is about gone and he is reluctant to ask for more, especially when Fink could speed up the probe by using assistants of McElroy for routine work.

It is not known when the jury will recess for the Christmas holidays, but Fink has said he plans a Caribbean cruise during that period.

Youth, 19, Faces Murder Charge

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—A 19-year-old youth faces a charge of first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of a church choir director who the youth said was "mean to his wife and three daughters."

Lawrence County Sheriff Carl E. Rose said Robert Cox has admitted shooting Paul Brammer, 41, while Brammer was in his parked car in the driveway of his home in the Proctorville area Sunday night. Cox had lived with the Brammer family for eight or nine months.

According to the sheriff, Cox shot Brammer as he returned from the grocery store, put the .22-caliber rifle in a basement gunrack and then "discovered" the body in the parked car.

The family, thinking Brammer had suffered a heart attack, called the operator of a funeral home. The mortician discovered the bullet and called deputies.

Rhodes' plan calls for establishing an authority to create 200,000 jobs through a revenue bond financing program. The authority would replace DIED, set up by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

James Nance of Cleveland's Central National Bank, serving as chairman, called for selection of a committee to report by Dec. 7 on taxation and other problems influencing industrial growth in the state. George E. Wilson of the Akron Area Development Committee was named vice chairman. Others members of the committee are expected to be named Wednesday.

Rhodes told the group Monday his administration expects to meet the challenge of other industrial states in force.

"We cannot continue to drift in the field of economic development," Rhodes said. "I, as governor of Ohio, want to be this state's No. 1 salesman."

"The most important thing before us is the creation of jobs and economic growth."

After discussion, Nance listed these major areas for committee study and recommendation:

— Organization of an Industrial Development Authority with a research tie-in.

— Provision for capital funds for the authority.

— Analysis of Ohio's tax and industrial climate and getting a program that will keep industry in the state and bring in new plants.

— Provision for new sites and facilities for new and expanding plants.

— Determining the place of research in the development authority.

Legislators attending the meeting included House Speaker Roger Clud, R-Logan, and Reps. Terry E. Drake, R-Crawford, and D. O. Taber, R-Gallia. Drake and Taber are expected to introduce legislation to create the proposed authority.

K of C Council Has Holiday Party

Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, held a Thanksgiving Party for members and wives Thursday in the council rooms at Franklin and Pickaway Sts. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by those attending. The event was planned by the council's activity committee.

A full schedule of activities was rounded out Sunday by the council with 30 members attending the 8:15 a.m. Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church and receiving holy communion as a group.

Out-of-town guests for the Thanksgiving Party included Mr. and Mrs. Herb Kohlbeck, Green Bay, Wis.

William D. Brenner, public relations chairman, announced today that the council is still conducting its membership drive and welcome all Catholic men in Circleville and Pickaway County to seek admission in the Knight of Columbus.

Food Chains Heavy Retail Egg Sellers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says food chains accounted for 45 to 60 per cent of retail sales of eggs in five eastern market areas.

A study covered retail sales and the movement into retail channels of shell eggs in Baltimore, Pittsburgh, New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

Independent grocers, the second most important retail outlet for eggs in the market in Boston to 32 per cent in Pittsburgh.

Wholesale distributors sold to such institutional outlets as hotels, restaurants and hospitals as well as through their own retail routes and stores.

Food chains had the greatest share of retail sales of eggs in Boston with 60 per cent of the market, and the smallest share in Philadelphia, with 45 per cent of the market.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department proposed today to add 49 counties in Southern Michigan to the list of U.S. areas conducting intensive state-federal campaigns to eradicate sheep scabies.

The 15 counties of Michigan's Upper Peninsula and the 19 uppermost counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula already have been freed of this costly sheep disease.

Similar sheep-scabies eradication programs currently are being conducted in Illinois, Kentucky, Nebraska, New Mexico, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Hawaii.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department takes the view that reapportionment of state legislative bodies may add rather than detract from rural services that are being provided.

When cities get more power in state legislatures, many people assume that rural areas will automatically suffer.

But, a department specialist says, reapportionment of legislative bodies might actually result in rural communities having more services as well as increased expenditure.

1 Killed, 2 Injured

SALEM, Ohio (AP)—A head-on car-truck collision at the intersection of Ohio 14 and 165 east of here Monday left a Freedom, Pa., woman dead and her daughter and young grandson injured. Killed was Mrs. Marie Borzo, 62. Her daughter, Mrs. Shirley Moore, 25, was in poor condition at Salem City Hospital and Mrs. Moore's son, Mark, 5, was in fair condition.

Social Security Head Warns Public of Book Advertisements

Elmer H. Biedenholz, social security district manager in Chillicothe, today warned the public to be wary of advertisements promoting the sale of books that promise to tell how to "get around" certain provisions in the social security law.

Some of these advertising materials, Biedenholz noted, say that books will also show "How to get twice as much social security," or even, "How you can get social security for doing absolutely nothing."

"Actually," Biedenholz said "these books cannot tell the reader anything basic about the social security law that he would not find in the free booklets and leaflets available at the Chillicothe Social Security District Office."

In fact, if advice contained in some of the books were followed it might result in extensive investigation by this office and thus delay social security payments rather than expedite their issuance. Further, following some of the advice might place the individual in

Fayette Girl Honored at 4-H Session

CHICAGO (AP)—An 18-year-old Washington Court House, Ohio, girl was honored for her skill with needle and thread at the 41st National 4-H Club Congress today.

Carolyn Dill of Rt. 6, Washington Court House, was Ohio's representative to the National 4-H Dress Revue in which 51 state and territorial winners modeled their homemade clothing.

Miss Dill modeled a complete costume which she designed to typify the "young America" look. The theme was carried out in white wool and navy doeskin flannel.

Simple in design, the white wool coat featured three-quarter length sleeves, rounded collar and three large, covered buttons down the front.

The navy sheath dress had a high, rounded neckline and elbow length sleeves. A self belt caught two soft pleats in the skirt. All accessories, from wide-brimmed straw hat to plain calf pumps, were in navy.

As a state winner, she won the trip to the 4-H congress, a complete scissors set and the honor of modeling her costume in the dress revue.

Miss Dill makes most of her own clothes and sews for her mother and sisters. She is a freshman at Ohio University, majoring in home economics.

She has won numerous awards in the eight years she has participated in 4-H activities.

Ford ideas so contagious they started a new trend in cars!

If you think today's cars have a lot in common, credit the Ford sketches above. For these ideas sparked a revolution in car design that's reflected wherever you look on the American road.

Ford ideas have a habit of being exciting—practical, too. Consider the innovations found only in our '63s. There is Ford Galaxie's smooth new velvet ride. It cost Ford $10 million to bring it to you, but costs you not a penny extra to enjoy. There is Ford's full twice-a-year or 6,000-mile maintenance* schedule that cuts service worry and expense to a minimum. There's a new manual transmission that lets you shift down from second to first without coming to a stop. And for '63, there's the biggest choice of models ever offered—44 in all!

Only Ford offers all these advantages now. Other cars will eventually catch up—but if you can't wait, here's a tip. See your Ford Dealer today!

Here's America's most contagious routine as seen on the 1963 Ford Galaxie 500 XL.

Rhodes, Aides Shape Grave For DiSalle's DIED Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some 40 business and legislative leaders and Gov. - elect James A. Rhodes have begun to dig a grave for DIED — the Department of Industrial and Economic Development.

The "diggings" also served as a foundation for Rhodes to carry out his new jobs and industrial development program for Ohio. Rhodes' plan calls for establishing an authority to create 200,000 jobs through a revenue bond financing program. The authority would replace DIED, set up by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

James Nance of Cleveland's Central National Bank, serving as chairman, called for selection of a committee to report by Dec. 7 on taxation and other problems influencing industrial growth in the state. George E. Wilson of the Akron Area Development Committee was named vice chairman. Other members of the committee are expected to be named Wednesday.

Rhodes told the group Monday his administration expects to meet the challenge of other industrial states in force.

"We cannot continue to drift in the field of economic development," Rhodes said. "I, as governor of Ohio, want to be this state's No. 1 salesman."

"The most important thing before us is the creation of jobs and economic growth."

After discussion, Nance listed these major areas for committee study and recommendation:

— Organization of an Industrial Development Authority with a research tie-in.

— Provision for capital funds for the authority.

— Analysis of Ohio's tax and industrial climate and getting a program that will keep industry in the state and bring in new plants.

— Provision for new sites and facilities for new and expanding plants.

— Determining the place of research in the development authority.

Legislators attending the meeting included House Speaker Roger Clud, R-Logan, and Reps. Terry E. Drake, R-Crawford, and D. O. Taber, R-Gallia. Drake and Taber are expected to introduce legislation to create the proposed authority.

K of C Council Has Holiday Party

Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, held a Thanksgiving Party for members and wives Thursday in the council rooms at Franklin and Pickaway Sts. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by those attending. The event was planned by the council's activity committee.

A full schedule of activities was rounded out Sunday by the council with 30 members attending the 8:15 a. m. Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church and receiving holy communion as a group.

Out-of-town guests for the Thanksgiving Party included Mr. and Mrs. Herb Kohlbeck, Green Bay, Wis.

William D. Brenner, public relations chairman, announced today that the council is still conducting its membership drive and welcome all Catholic men in Circleville and Pickaway County to seek admission in the Knight of Columbus.

Food Chains Heavy Retail Egg Sellers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says food chains accounted for 45 to 60 per cent of retail sales of eggs in five eastern market areas.

A study covered retail sales and the movement into retail channels of shell eggs in Baltimore, Pittsburgh, New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

Independent grocers, the second most important retail outlet for eggs in the market in Boston to 32 per cent in Pittsburgh.

Wholesale distributors sold to such institutional outlets as hotels, restaurants and hospitals as well as through their own retail routes and stores.

Food chains had the greatest share of retail sales of eggs in Boston with 60 per cent of the market, and the smallest share in Philadelphia, with 45 per cent of the market.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department proposed today to add 49 counties in Southern Michigan to the list of U.S. areas conducting intensive state-federal campaigns to eradicate sheep scabies.

The 15 counties of Michigan's Upper Peninsula and the 19 up-permost counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula already have been freed of this costly sheep disease.

Similar sheep-scabies eradication programs currently are being conducted in Illinois, Kentucky, Nebraska, New Mexico, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Hawaii.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department takes the view that reapportionment of state legislative bodies may add rather than detract from rural services that are being provided.

When cities get more power in state legislatures, many people assume that rural areas will automatically suffer.

But, a department specialist says, reapportionment of legislative bodies might actually result in rural communities having more services as well as increased expenditure.

a worse, rather than a better financial position, he stated.

"If a resident of the Circleville or Chillicothe area has any questions about his social security benefits," the social security district manager said, "I suggest he come in and talk to someone in our office. The people in our office will be glad to give you full and realistic information tailored to your particular situation".

The social security district office in Chillicothe is located at 32 West Main Street.
